

Contents

Foreword	9
Introduction	11
 PART 1
THE HUMAN CONSTITUTION ACCORDING TO RUDOLF STEINER
The human being, a polarized being, a tripartite being, a being of rhythm and movement	15
The threefoldness of spirit, soul and body	16
Some examples of threefoldness in body structure	18
The relationship between the human being and its terrestrial environment	20
Synthesis	21
The human being, a fourfold being. A being composed of four differentiated bodies	23
Corporal fourfoldness	23
Synthesis	24
The interaction of the four bodies	25
Synthesis	26
Today's human being, the result of a long evolution	29
The human being: two closely related entities – one visible and one invisible	31
Preamble: an artist illustrates our dual nature	31
The two entities that preside over the incarnation	33
Both entities in relation	35
The two main active currents from spiritual to physical	36
The two weakened intermediate currents	37
The four active currents from the spiritual to the physical entity	39
The relationship between the constituents from the point of view of the states of consciousness	40
Synthesis	40
Notions of health and illness from the point of view of spiritual science	41
Conditions for good health	41
The two pathological tendencies	41
The two therapeutic possibilities	42
Synthesis	43
Conclusion	44

PART 2

THE HUMAN CONSTITUTION ACCORDING TO LIANE COLLOT D'HERBOIS

Some biographical elements	47
Her fundamental discovery at the age of 26	47
Her conception in light, darkness and colour	48
The human being, a being of light and darkness, a being oriented vertically in space	49
The darkness and light polarity	49
The vertical spiral as archetype	49
Application to the artistic activity in charcoal	52
Synthesis	53
The human being, a being in light, darkness and colour, a being in motion	55
Colour between darkness and light	55
The meditation of Liane Collot d'Herbois	55
The vertical spiral applied to the heart	57
The reversal of natural laws into human laws	61
Application to the artistic activity in watercolour	62
Conclusion	64

PART 3

APPLICATION AND RESEARCH IN THE THERAPY ACCORDING TO COLLOT

An artist illustrates the two pathological tendencies	69
The foundations of light, darkness and colour therapy	70
General conditions of the therapy according to Collot	71
Some diagnostic charcoal images of the different tendencies to pathology	75
Some diagnostic images in colour of different tendencies to pathology	79

PART 4

DEPRESSION

Research conditions	85
A general signature of the tendency to depression	85
The cardinal organs	85
Synthesis	87
Liver-type depression	89
Depression of the hepatic type. Diagnostic images	90
Analysis	91
Therapeutic elements in charcoal	92
Therapeutic elements in colour	93

Kidney-type depression	97
Kidney-type depression. Diagnostic images	98
Analysis	99
Therapeutic elements in charcoal	100
Therapeutic elements in colour	102
Lung-type depression	105
Lung-type depression. Diagnostic images	106
Analysis	107
Therapeutic elements in charcoal	108
Therapeutic elements in colour	109
Heart-type depression	111
Heart-type depression. Diagnostic images	112
Analysis	113
Therapeutic elements in charcoal	114
Therapeutic elements in colour	115
Occupational exhaustion syndrome or Burnout: spleen-type depression	117
Spleen-type depression. Diagnostic images	120
Analysis	121
Therapeutic elements in charcoal	122
Therapeutic elements in colour	123
Synthesis	124
Conclusion of the chapter on depressions	125

PART 5

PRECANCEROUS AND CANCER

Some diagnostic complements according to Rudolf Steiner	129
The precancerous. Diagnostic images	130
Analysis	131
Therapeutic elements in charcoal	131
Therapeutic elements in colour	132
Cancer. Diagnostic images in charcoal	133
Analysis	134
Therapeutic elements in charcoal	134
Cancer. Diagnostic images in colour	135
Analysis	136
Therapeutic elements in colour	137
Synthesis	138
Conclusion	141
Annex	143
The authors	155