

Contents

1	Theoretical and Research Framework	1
1.1	Theoretical Framework: Social Innovation, Social Investment.	1
1.2	The Study's Framework and the Structure of the Volume	10
2	The Economic, Social, and Political Background Behind the Establishment and Operation of the Social Land Programme	15
2.1	The Appearance of Unemployment and the Lack of Income in the Post-communist Era, Especially in Rural Areas	15
2.2	The Crisis of Family Farms that Provide Supplementary Income	17
2.3	The Transformation of the Demographic and Social Structure of Smaller Communities.	20
2.4	The Transformation of the Welfare Model, the Prioritisation of Strategies that Advocate Self-sufficiency Over Passive Benefits	23
2.5	The Social and Labour Market Integration of the Roma Within the Social Land Programme	25
2.6	Summary	27
3	The Historical Roots and Main Phases of Development of the Social Land Programme	29
3.1	The Roots of the Social Land Programme.	29
3.2	The Revival of the Social Land Programme, Its Organisational and Legal Conditions After 1989	31
3.3	Summary	43

4	The Social Land Programme in Terms of Related Literature	45
4.1	Comprehensive Studies and Specialised Approaches	45
4.2	Typologies	49
4.3	Summary	52
5	The Social Land Programme in the Changing Realm of Social Policy	55
5.1	Changes in Social Policy Objectives	55
5.2	The Adaptation of the Institutional System to the Changing Policy Objectives	59
5.3	The Funding System of the Social Land Programme	63
5.4	The Role of Land in the Social Land Programme	67
5.5	Summary	70
6	The Operation and Characteristics of the Social Land Programme Today	71
6.1	The Objectives and Methodological Framework of the Case Study	71
6.2	The Programme's Target Group and the Selection of Participants	74
6.3	The Conditions of the Activity Performed Within the Social Land Programme	89
6.4	The Role of Services in the Social Land Programme	95
6.5	The Main Participants of the Organisation and Realisation of the Social Land Programme	101
6.6	Summary	113
7	The Impact of the Social Land Programme	115
7.1	The Direct Impact of the Social Land Programme	115
7.2	The Indirect Impact of the Social Land Programme	124
7.3	Summary	131
8	Integration Models—Complementing or Competing with Each Other? The Integration Strategies of Local Society	133
8.1	The Theoretical Background of Improving the Social Land Programme	134
8.2	The Brief Introduction of the Four Integration Models	137
8.3	The Main Dimensions of the Comparison of the Integration Models	146
8.4	The Relations of Integration Models	147

8.5	Hypothetical Models of the Cooperation of Different Means of Integration	149
8.6	Summarising the Characteristics and Relations of Integration Models.	155
9	The Characteristics of Social Cooperatives in Hungary	159
9.1	The Birth of the First Social Cooperatives in Hungary (2006–2010)	160
9.2	The Policy/Political Framework of Social Cooperatives During the Orbán Administration (2011–2017).	162
9.3	The Independence of Social Cooperatives and the Mandatory Participation of Local Governments	166
9.4	Summary	172
10	Summary, Conclusions	175
10.1	The Social Land Programme as a Social Innovation	175
10.2	Challenges and Dilemmas	177
10.3	Conclusions	180
	Appendices	183
	References	189