Table of Contents

List of Figures 11

List of Tables 13

List of Boxes 15

List of Abbreviations 17

1 Introduction: an ambitious response to a severe crisis 19

1.1 The European Council Conclusions of July 2020 and their legal follow-up 20
1.2 A lively and controversial debate: the European Council's role in framing a master narrative 24
1.3 Challenges for the ivory tower: suggestions for the academic agenda 28
1.3.1 Short-term analyses of objectives and results: a study of the legal documents and their impact 29
1.3.2 Assessing the interinstitutional impact: the European Council's role and beyond 33
1.3.3 Longer-term perspectives: the rescue of the nation states by a Hamiltonian moment? 34
1.4 Conclusion: a moving target to remain on the agenda for research and teaching 38

2 The roads to and from the July 2020 meeting of the European Council 41

2.1 The long road and the historical record: the European Council exercising the power of the purse 42
2.2 The long and slow road towards the 2021–2027 MFF: the usual business of postponing divisive issues 48
2.3 The fast track: the European Council in crisis mode 49
2.4 The July marathon meeting: tracing the drama 57
2.5 The bumpy road from the July to the December meeting and the February Regulation 61

Bibliografische Informationen
http://d-nb.info/1252775938

digitalisiert durch DEUTSCHE NATIONAL BIBLIOTHEK

2.6 The road map post-agreement 68
2.7 Conclusion: widening and deepening a multi-level analysis 71

3 The governance of the RRF: legal rules and procedural patterns 73

3.1 Governance mechanisms: legal rules and their practical use in four phases 76
3.1.1 Preparation phase: a mixture of bottom-up and top-down 78
3.1.2 Decision-making phase: Commission and Council in a traditional pattern under time pressure 82
3.1.3 Implementation phase: complex and complicated rules 84
3.1.4 Control phase: a set of detailed rules including the rule of law 87
3.1.5 A missing actor? A weak role for the EP 90
3.2 Conclusion: governance mechanisms on the research agenda 92

4 The impact on the EU's institutional architecture: the European Council as key actor 95

4.1 Explaining the key role of the European Council as a crisis manager 95
4.2 The road to consensus at the summit: the club under stress 98
4.2.1 The importance of a 'comprehensive package' with concrete agreements 99
4.2.2 The role of the Presidency: facilitating consensus as the honest broker 100
4.2.3 The political culture of the leaders' club: an esprit de corps, or the limits of collegiality? 101
4.2.4 Power relations: French-German leadership—a benevolent hegemony? 103
4.3 The impact on interinstitutional balancing 106
4.3.1 The European Council and the EP: follower, rival or partner? 108
4.3.2 The European Council and the Commission: a principal–agent relationship or a special partnership? 109
4.4 On the legitimacy debate: democratic shortcomings or consensus democracy? 112

4.5 Conclusion: the European Council as a transformative force —long-term perspectives on a constitutional architect 116

5 Revisiting theoretical approaches: a controversial debate and the challenges for further research 121

5.1 Variants of federalism: Spinelli, Monnet and Hallstein revisited 122
5.2 Variants of functionalism: the comeback of spill-over and supranational institutions 125
5.3 Variants of intergovernmentalism: member states as pivotal players in the EU 127
5.4 Variants of institutionalism: path dependence, self-interest, and political culture 130
5.5 Conclusion: towards further offers 131

6 Scenarios for the future: factors and conditions for success and failure 135

6.1 Speculating about a feasible (and valid) test in the real word: challenges for the political arena and the academic ivory tower 135
6.1.1 A scenario of success 136
6.1.2 A scenario of failure 137
6.2 Reflections on the next phase in the EU's construction 139
6.2.1 Towards a new normality: more or less international cooperation 139
6.2.2 A new road map for the future of the Union's architecture 140

Conclusions: demands and opportunities for teaching and researching 143

6.3 Lessons learned: recommendations for the teaching agenda 143
6.4 A 'menu' of tasks for further research 144

References 147