

Table of Contents

7	Essay by Thomas Oberender	1.
	The Living Exhibition: How Exhibitions Transcend the Cocoon of the Anthropocene	41 Down to Earth. Climate Art Discourse unplugged
		47 Tomás Saraceno in conversation with Thomas Oberender
18	Essay by Dorothea von Hantelmann	'Who Is the Artist?'
	On the Way to a New Ritual: The Individualised Experiential Space	65 Essay by Susanne Witzgall
		Time for the Earth: Down to Earth and the Ecology of Temporalities
25	Essay by Corinne Diserens
	On Configurations of Mutable State: Notes About Some Exhibitions	2.
		81 Welt ohne Außen. Immersive Spaces Since the 1960s
		87 Interview with Thomas Oberender and Tino Sehgal
		'In Modernism Everything Is Possible, Except Arriving'
		102 Exhibition report by Lili Hering
		In the Time Zones of an Exhibition
		107 Essay by Wolfgang Georgsdorf
		Deeper Than Light

	3.		5.
121	Philippe Parreno	201	Limits of Knowing
127	Essay by Angela Rosenberg	207	Essay by Theresa Schütz
	The World as a Film Script		On the Temporality/-ies of Immersion and Bounties of Experience in Immersive Arts
142	Philippe Parreno in conversation with Emanuele Coccia and Thomas Oberender	221	Interview with Stefan Kaegi and Dominic Huber (Rimini Protokoll)
	'The Exhibition as a Film Without a Camera'		'Of Course, as Soon as You Build Spaces Like These, You're No Longer in a Museum' 4.
161	Ed Atkins: Old Food		6.
167	Interview with Ed Atkins	241	Omer Fast: Talking Is Not Always The Solution
	'I Used to Love Immersing Myself in a Bath and Reflecting for Hours'	247	Interview with Omer Fast and Heike Schuppelius
185	Essay by Inke Arns		'Waiting Is Not Supposed to Be Fun'
	We Are All Sandwich	264	Essay by Maria Muhle
			'Talking Is Not Always the Solution, Katja': Omer Fast's Waiting Scenes
		282	Contributors' Biographies
		290	Photo Credits
		292	Colophon