

Contents

Foreword — VII

Contributors — XIII

Tomoko Shiroyama

Introduction — 1

Part I: Traders and workers abroad: Coping with colonial powers and socioeconomic adversaries

Coping with colonial governments

Li Tana

Chapter 1

Hong Kong rice merchants and Saigon's rice exports, 1870s–1920s — 19

Richard T. Chu

Chapter 2

The general, the Chino, and the Señorita: Stories from The Manila Times in early US Colonial Manila — 39

Jeffery Sng, Pimpraphai Bisalputra

Chapter 3

Vulnerability, divided loyalties, and secret societies in Siam, 1850–1950 — 61

Modern hygiene and medicine

Di Mao

Chapter 4

A different model of hygienic modernity: Encountering plague in Macau in 1895 — 81

Kaori Abe

Chapter 5

Health crisis in Chinese worlds: Medicine, religion, and epidemics in South China and Southeast Asia, 1880s–1910s — 103

Collective survival of workers

Yi Li

Chapter 6

A Cantonese Carpenters' strike in Rangoon, 1922 — 121

Kah Seng Loh

Chapter 7

Coolies and crisis in Singapore: The great depression in the 1930s and the Chinese working class — 141

Part II: Banks and businesses during the great depression

Silver and the Chinese economy

Kai Yiu Chan

Chapter 8

Silver and East Asian cities before China's Depression: Shanghai, Tientsin, and Dairen, 1925–1931 — 165

Tomoko Shiroyama

Chapter 9

Distant thunder? Reconsidering the impacts of the great depression on China — 201

Credit system without a central bank

Hiroaki Morota

Chapter 10

Chinese currency circulation and credit order in the interwar period — 223

Jin-A Kang

Chapter 11

Monetary war between Nanjing and Guangzhou during the great depression: Financial unification and national versus local politics in China in the 1930s — 253

Qiaoxiang* (Overseas Chinese hometown) in crisis

Chi-cheung Choi

Chapter 12

Currency reform and the 1934 financial crisis in Shantou — 279

Venus Viana

Chapter 13

Bank runs and runaway bankers in Zhongshan, 1930s — 291

The paradox of the consumer market

Huangfu Qiushi

Chapter 14

The Chinese cigarette market amid an economic crisis, 1931–1936 — 309

Glossary — 329

Index — 333