

Contents

Foreword	vii
Preface to the Previous Editions	viii
About the Author	ix
Short Introduction	x
1 Illness and Health—A New View	1
Boerhaave, Semmelweis, Mayr: Men Ahead of Their Time	1
These Questions Were Important for F. X. Mayr.	2
Diagnostics of Good Health	3
When and How Illness Begins	6
How Damage First Occurs	6
The Digestive System—Root of the Human Plant.	7
Intestinal Sluggishness Leads to Illness	10
What Can Be Learned from the Shape of the Abdomen?	10
Possible Complaints Associated With a Sluggish Small Intestine	12
Formation of Toxins from Decomposition	13
Origins of Dysbiosis	14
Diseases of the Digestive System	14
Contamination of the Body	14
Effect on the Entire Person	16
Sluggish Intestines Make a Person Look Ugly and Old	17
Posture	17
The Skin	20
Sluggishness of the Bowels Causes Premature Aging	22
2 Recovery by the Mayr Plan	25
Mayr Therapies	25
Mayr's Healing or Tea Fast	25
The Basic Program for all Cures in Accordance with F. X. Mayr	28
Maintenance and Cleansing Therapy with a Hard Roll and Milk Diet (Mayr's Milk Fast)	29
The First Therapeutic Principle: Respite	31
Milk	31
Hard Roll	32
Eating Method.	33
The Drinking Cure	34
The Herbal Tea	35
What to Do if Hungry or Thirsty	36
General Care	36

The Second Therapeutic Principle: Cleansing	38
Intestinal Cleansing with Epsom Salt Solution	38
Enemas as a Supportive Measure	39
Deacidification	40
The Third Therapeutic Principle: Training	42
Manual Abdominal Treatment	42
Other Types of Mayr Cure	44
The Expanded Milk Diet	44
The Mild Drainage Diet	44
Course and Framework Conditions of the Mayr Cure	46
Crisis	46
Objective Criteria for Judging Recovery	47
The Psyche and Digestion	52
Our Dear Fellow Humans	54
Healthier Parents—Healthier Children	55
Vitamins, Minerals, and Other Vital Substances	55
The Therapeutic Principle of Substitution	58
Addiction to Pills	59
Conclusion of Therapy and Repetition	59
Dangers of Self-treatment	60
Who is Particularly Well Suited for the Mayr Cure?	61
The Most Common Questions about the Mayr Cure	63
3 Better Nutrition and a Healthier Way of Life	69
Proper Nutrition	69
The Senses as Selectors of Food	69
The Protective Reflexes of the Digestive System as Regulators of Food Intake	70
Nutritional Rules	72
How Should We Eat?	72
How Much Should We Eat?	73
When and How Often Should We Eat?	74
What Should We Eat?	75
General Rules for Good Health	78
Respite	78
Cleansing	79
Training	79
A Healthier Tomorrow	80
4 Appendix	81
Further Information	81
Further Reading	82
Index	86