

Contents

Acknowledgments — IX

List of Tables — XI

Andreas N. Michalopoulos, Andreas Serafim, Alessandro Vatri and Flaminia Beneventano della Corte

Unity and Division in Ancient Literature: Current Perspectives and Further Research — 1

Part I: Authors, Speakers and Audience

Michael J. Edwards

The Rhetoric of (Dis)Unity in the Attic Orators — 21

Nick Fisher

Creating a Cultural Community: Aeschines and Demosthenes — 45

Andreas Serafim

“I, He, We, You, They”: Addresses to the Audience as a Means of Unity/Division in Attic Forensic Oratory — 71

Eleni Volonaki

Rhetoric of Disunity Through Arousal of Hostile Emotions in Elsangella Cases — 99

Bé Breij

“It Takes More Love to Kill a Son than to Vindicate Him”: How Maxims May Contribute to Affiliation — 127

Part II: Emotions

Dimos Spatharas

Projective Uses of Emotions, Out-groups and Personal Characterization: The Case of Against Aristogeiton I (Dem. 25) — 149

Ed Sanders

Xenophon on Strategies to Maintain Unity in Armies under Stress — 167

Part III: Drama and Poetry

Ioannis Konstantakos

Divided Audiences and How to Win Them Over: The Case of Aristophanes' Acharnians — 191

Andreas N. Michalopoulos

Fighting Against an Intruder: A Comparative Reading of the Speeches of Pentheus (3.531–563) and Niobe (6.170–202) in Ovid's Metamorphoses — 213

George Paraskeviotis

Humorous Unity and Disunity between the Characters in Vergil's Eclogues 1 and 2 — 229

Part IV: Historical and Technical Prose

Vasileios Liotsakis

Disunity and the Macedonians in the Literature of Alexander: Plutarch, Arrian and Curtius Rufus — 245

Alessandro Vatri

Divisive Scholarship: Affiliation Dynamics in Ancient Greek Literary Criticism — 275

Christos Kremmydas

The Rhetoric of Homonola in Dio Chrysostom's Civic Orations — 293

Marco Romani Mistretta

Finding Unity through Knowledge: Narrative and Identity-Building in Greek Technical Prose — 317

Part V: Gender and the Construction of Identity

Stefano Ferrucci

Vanishing Mothers. The (De)construction of Personal Identity in Attic Forensic Speeches — 335

T. Davina McClain

Cato vs Valerius/Men vs Women: Rhetorical Strategies in The Oppian Law Debate in Livy's Ab Urbe Condita — 351

Simone Mollea

Humanitas*: A Double-Edged Sword in Apuleius the Orator? — 373

Part VI: Religious Discourse

Flaminia Beneventano della Corte

Rhetoric of the Mortals, Rhetoric of the Gods. Deigmata, Phasmata and the Construction of Evidence — 389

Michael Paschalis

Ciceronian vs Socratic Dialogue in the De divinatione — 405

Philip Hardie

Unity and Disunity in Paulinus of Nola Poem 24 — 413

Note on Editors and Contributors — 425

General Index — 427

Index Locorum — 435