

Contents

On the Series — V

Acknowledgements — IX

Introduction — 1

Chapter 1

Imagining a Region — 14

 A Genesis of the South — 14

 Where do we Stand? — 29

Chapter 2

Speaking of Space — 37

 A New Language of Space — 37

 Social Space and Spatialization Processes — 39

 Spatial Actors — 42

 Spatial Imaginations — 46

 Spatial Formats and Spatial Orders — 49

 Spatial Orders and Formats in the Antebellum US — 52

 Globalizations and Global Condition — 56

 Nation State and Empire: Beyond American Exceptionalism — 60

 Regionalisms: The South as a Region — 66

 Southern Regional Literature and Literary Regionalism in the South — 70

 Peripheries, Borders, and Frontiers — 73

 Understanding the Diversity — 79

Chapter 3

The Slaveholding South in a Hemispheric Context — 81

 Southern Nation in a Hemispheric Confederation — 86

 Simms's Unchanging Loyalty: Regionalism — 89

 Hemispheric Expansion as the Anglo-Saxon Manifest Destiny — 95

 (Re)formatting the South — 103

 The Nation, the Empire — 110

 Filibusters for a United Nation — 111

 Politics from the Domestic Sphere — 114

 A Not-So-“Ripe Fruit” — 117

 A Domestic Background for Unionism — 127

Filibusters for Liberty — 134
Patriotic Slaves for a Unionist Sentiment — 140
A Union of Spatial Formats — 146

Chapter 4

The South within Abolitionist Networks — 149

The Helots of Haiti — 152
A Global Vision Beyond Travel Narratives — 154
Embracing a Violent Revolution — 160
Uniting the Circumatlantic Resistance — 172
Building Abolitionist Networks — 179
Carrying the South to the Centre — 185
The South in Christian Republic — 187
(Re)imagining the South from without — 192
Principles of a True Christian Republic — 194
The Caribbean as a Space of Transformation — 199
A Place of Death and Birth — 204
Negotiating the South — 209
(Re)Claiming Space for Black Nation — 211
Delany's Abolitionism — 214
The "Spectre" Haunting the Americas — 220
Subverting the Spatial Order of the Slave Economy — 225
A Space for a Black Nation — 233
From a Space of Oppression to a Space of Revolution — 245

Conclusion: Bringing Spatial Imaginations Together — 249

Bibliography — 263

Index — 281