

Contents

I. Materialistic and Religious Concept of Man in the Russian Philosophy of the 20th Century

(Jaromír Feber)	7
Introduction	9
1. Russian Philosophy of the 20th Century	16
2. Materialistic Tradition in Russian Philosophy	25
3. Man in the Materialistic Tradition of Russian Philosophy – General Foundations	33
4. Materialistic Concept of Man – Man as the Sum of Social Relations	46
5. Materialistic Concept of Man – Man as a Subject of Practice	56
6. Materialistic Concept of Man – Origin of Man	65
7. Materialistic Concept of Man – Man as a Subject of Reason	70
8. Man in the Religious Tradition of Russian Philosophy – General Foundations	80
9. Man in the Religious Tradition of Russian Philosophy – Classification and Basic Characterization of Individual Approaches	92
Literature	101

II. “Sacrum” and Its Stratification in Russian Tradition and Religious Philosophy of the 20th Century

(Helena Hrehová)	109
Introduction	111
1. Dimensional Preconditions of Awakening and Genesis of the Words Mystérion and Mystikos	115
2. Sacredness in Thinking of the Russian Slavophiles of the 19th Century	119
2.1 Ivan Vasilyevich Kireyevsky (1806–1856)	120

2. 2	Aleksey Stepanovich Khomyakov (1804–1860)	124
2. 3	Konstantin Sergeyevich Aksakov (1817–1860)	129
2. 4	Yuri Fyodorovich Samarin (1819–1876)	130
3.	View of Life “According to Moral Principles” in Philosophy of Pyotr Yakovlevich Chaadayev (1794–1856)	132
4.	Mystical Experience and Vision of Sofia in the Work of V. S. Solovyov (1853–1900)	135
5.	Religious Experience in the Ideas of Dmitry Sergeyevich Merezhkovsky (1865–1941)	142
6.	Mysteriousness of Person in Metaphysical Thinking of Lev Platonovich Karsavin (1882–1952)	145
7.	Soul and Sacredness According to Ivan Alexandrovich Ilyin (1882–1955)	152
8.	Vasilii Vasilievich Zenkovsky (1881–1962) and His Concerns about Secularization in the Field of Education	159
9.	Depth of Religious Experience and Mystical Fire in the Ideas of Nikolai Sergeevich Arseniev (1888–1977)	169
10.	Does the Reality of Sacrum Have a “Chance to Survive” in the Globalized Multicultural World?	177
	Conclusion	181
	Literature	183

III. The Sacred and the Profane in Russian Anthropology and Philosophy

	(Peter Rusnák)	187
	Introduction	189
1.	Russian Philosophy in the Age of Avant-gardes	190
2.	Russian Anthropology in Specially Historical Period	191
3.	Two Points of Russian Philosophy of Man – Frank and Florensky	193
4.	Some Themes of the Russian Philosophical Thinking in the Silver Age	196
5.	Great Period of Russian Philosophy	200
6.	Frank’s and Florensky’s Philosophy between Polemic of Sacrum and Profanum in Russian Metaphysical Thinking	201
7.	The Ontological-Epistemological Consequence of Russian Metaphysical Thinking	205
	Conclusion	210
	Literature	212
	About Authors	216