

1	Magnetic Sense, AI, and the Future of Mobility	1
1.1	Introduction	1
1.2	Senses and Sensors: The Autonomous Driving Case	2
1.2.1	Am I a Man or Am I a Plastic Bag?	2
1.2.2	When AI Follows Silly Rules	2
1.2.3	Risks and Opportunities of Biomimicry	3
1.2.4	Driving Skills and Hidden Senses	3
1.3	The Magnetic Sense	4
1.3.1	Turning Blue into Gold: The Haidinger's Brush	4
1.3.2	Pigeons, Compass, and Feng Shui	5
1.3.3	Magnetoceptor Profiles	6
1.3.4	Sensors, Body, and Brain	9
1.3.5	Magnetoceptor Profiles: Business Applications	11
1.4	A Tiffany Blue Sky	12
1.5	Magnetized Watches and Complications: The Jaeger-LeCoultre Case	12
1.6	Tesla Innovation Roadmap	14
1.6.1	Crystal Ball Versus Crystal Clear	15
1.6.2	The Expert and the Fool	15
1.6.3	Crash Course on Prediction	17
1.7	The Future of Mobility Feat. Huawei Technologies	19
1.7.1	Smart Cities with Huawei	19
1.7.2	Driving Safety Strategies	21
1.7.3	Hormones and Driving Behavior	22
1.7.4	Mobility and Opposite Needs	23
1.8	Take-Aways	24
	References	25
2	Taste, Product Preferences, and the Future of Shopping	29
2.1	Introduction	29
2.2	Why Do Customers Prefer a Product? The Coffee Case	30
2.2.1	The Cultural Myth	30
2.2.2	Brand Legitimacy	30
2.2.3	Triggering Emotions	31

2.2.4	The Market Response	31
2.3	Customer Insights Are on the Tip of the Tongue	32
2.3.1	The Secrets of Taste Perception	32
2.3.2	Tasting Panels	36
2.3.3	The Coke Zero Paradox	37
2.3.4	Taste Profiles: Business Applications	37
2.4	Red Bull, the Extreme Taste	38
2.5	Food for Thoughts: The iceDate Model	38
2.6	The Benefit of Dyson Products	41
2.6.1	The Contrarotator Enigma	41
2.6.2	Extreme Innovation	44
2.6.3	Deduction, Induction, and Retroduction	45
2.6.4	Sensory Science and Product Development	46
2.7	The Future of Shopping Feat. Al-Futtaim Malls	47
2.7.1	A Sense of Community with Al-Futtaim Malls	47
2.7.2	Minimizing Online Shopping Risks with Pepper	50
2.7.3	Bazaars, Plagues, and Express Delivery	50
2.7.4	Out-of-Home, Self-Sufficiency, and Social Robots	52
2.8	Take-Aways	55
	References	55
3	Polarized Light, Space Exploration, and the Future of Luxury . . .	59
3.1	Introduction	59
3.2	What Makes a Product So Attractive? The Golden iPhone Case	60
3.2.1	Meet the Tuhao	60
3.2.2	Dress to Impress	60
3.2.3	Motivation: Power, Performance, or Popularity?	61
3.2.4	Golden Ornaments	62
3.3	A Twinkle in the Eye	63
3.3.1	Polarization: Another Dimension of Light	63
3.3.2	Carotenoids, Gold, and Polarotactic Profiles	64
3.3.3	Retinal Mosaic, Luxury, and Craving for Shiny	66
3.3.4	Polarotactic Profiles: Business Applications	70
3.4	L'Oréal blond	70
3.5	Visible Luxury: Louboutin and the "Chinese Red"	71
3.6	The Sofitel Mexico City Reforma Brand Experience	72
3.6.1	Featuring Distinct Brand Codes	72
3.6.2	Capturing the Brand Essence	76
3.6.3	Sensory Pitfalls in Brand Experience Design	77
3.7	The Future of Luxury Feat. Fairmont Mayakoba	79
3.7.1	The Future of Luxury Is Hidden in Mayakoba	80
3.7.2	When Luxury Brings Sustainability	82
3.7.3	Space Exploration, Luxury, and Methane Detection	84
3.8	Take-Aways	85
	References	86

4	Colors, the Microbiome, and the Future of Beauty	89
4.1	Introduction	89
4.2	How to Reach Beauty Shoppers: The Gifting Case	90
4.2.1	Travel Retail	90
4.2.2	Beauty and Gifting	90
4.2.3	Blended Shopping	91
4.2.4	Absurd Decisions	91
4.3	The Science of Colors	92
4.3.1	Cones, Rods, and Melanopsin Receptors	92
4.3.2	Color Perception: The Derval Color Test®	94
4.3.3	Color Profiles: Di-, Tri-, Tetra-, or Monochromats?	98
4.3.4	Color Profiles: Business Applications	102
4.4	When Street Meets Haute Couture: The Y-3 Case	102
4.5	A Pop of Color: The Kate Spade Case	103
4.6	Identifying the Target Personas: The BMW Case	104
4.6.1	A Unique Driving Experience	104
4.6.2	Persona: Meet Gary	105
4.6.3	Identifying Personas in Four Steps	107
4.7	The Future of Beauty, and the Microbiome Feat. Prof. Garib	110
4.7.1	Inside Our Microbiome with Prof. Garib, MD, Immunologist	110
4.7.2	Monkey Bread, Hormones, and the Microbiome	113
4.7.3	Ayurveda, the Sense of Digestion	115
4.7.4	Selfitis and Other Beauty Disorders	116
4.8	Take-Aways	117
	References	118
5	Space and Time Perception, XR, and the Future of Communication	121
5.1	Introduction	121
5.2	Where Is the Market Going? The Real Estate Case	122
5.2.1	Who Is the Expert?	122
5.2.2	Moment and Perception	122
5.2.3	Customers Could Be Anybody	122
5.2.4	Market Prospective	123
5.3	Putting Things into Perspective	124
5.3.1	Depth Cues, 2D, and 3D	124
5.3.2	Chromatic Aberrations and Vision	125
5.3.3	Space Profiles: Non-, Medium-, and Super-Renderers	131
5.3.4	Time and Space Receptors	133
5.3.5	Space Profiles: Business Applications	136
5.4	How Gucci Won New Markets	136
5.5	VR for Sustainability: The DS Case	138
5.6	Reaching Shoppers with Wait Marketing	138
5.6.1	The Wait Marketing 6Ms: The Jaguar Case	140

5.6.2	Dutch Railways (NS), Music Soothes Waiting Travelers	142
5.6.3	Time Modifiers	143
5.7	The Future of Communication Feat. 88 Pictures	145
5.7.1	Animating Personas with 88 Pictures	145
5.7.2	Virtual Humans: From Entertainment to Communication	146
5.7.3	What Makes a Human Human?	148
5.7.4	Gender Polymorphisms and the Hormonal Quotient®	150
5.8	Take-Aways	155
	References	156
6	Sense of Motion, eSports, and the Future of Entertainment	159
6.1	Introduction	159
6.2	How to Gauge New Competitors? The Gaming Case	160
6.2.1	The Right Flow	160
6.2.2	A Game-Changer	160
6.2.3	A Tiny Detail	160
6.2.4	Artificial Breathing	161
6.3	The Sense of Motion	161
6.3.1	Motion Receptors and Internal Mechanics	161
6.3.2	Neuromuscular Control and Superpowers	163
6.3.3	Motion Profiles: Non-, Medium-, and Super-proprioceptors	164
6.3.4	Motion Profiles: Business Applications	168
6.4	Luxury Athletic Wear with Moncler	168
6.5	The TikTok Revolution	170
6.6	Spotting Business Opportunities: Nintendo Positioning	171
6.6.1	Customers Versus Non-customers	171
6.6.2	Building your Positioning Map	172
6.6.3	Must-have Versus Nice-to-have	174
6.6.4	Opportunity or Feasibility Study?	175
6.7	The Future of Entertainment Feat. Attraktion!	176
6.7.1	Entertainment in Motion with Attraktion!	176
6.7.2	Ganbei 干杯 with Moutai	178
6.7.3	From Olympia Games to Fortnite	179
6.8	Take-Aways	180
	References	180
7	Sense of Smell, Biomarkers, and the Future of Health	183
7.1	Introduction	183
7.2	How Well Will a Product Sell? The Detergent Case	184
7.2.1	The Purchase Intention Trap	184
7.2.2	A Tendency to Overperform	184
7.2.3	Importance of the Sensory Context	184

7.2.4	The Essence of a Substitution Product	185
7.3	Passing Customers' Smell Test	185
7.3.1	The Secrets of Smell Perception	185
7.3.2	Inhaler Profiles	188
7.3.3	Ambient Odorants and Mood	191
7.3.4	Predicting Scents Preferences	193
7.3.5	Scent Profiles: Business Applications	195
7.4	A Classic Scent: The Chanel N°5 Case	195
7.5	Celebrity Fragrances: The Taylor Swift Case	196
7.6	Matching Products and Sensory Profiles: The Kenzo Case	196
7.6.1	Inhaler Profiles at Sephora	196
7.6.2	Sensory Non-senses	198
7.6.3	Shitification or the Tendency to Fix the Wrong Things	199
7.7	The Future of Health Feat. The ŌURA Ring	202
7.7.1	ŌURA Handy Health Companion	202
7.7.2	The Neuroscience of Addictions	204
7.7.3	Health, Well-Being, and Biomarkers	206
7.8	Take-Aways	208
	References	209
8	Sense of Status, Serious Gaming, and the Future of Work	213
8.1	Introduction	213
8.2	What Do Shoppers Want? The Superyacht Case	214
8.2.1	Welcome on Board	214
8.2.2	UHNWIs and Yachting	214
8.2.3	Size Really Matters	215
8.2.4	Meet the Sheikh	215
8.3	Climbing the Power Rankings	216
8.3.1	Sense of Status: The Need for Luxury Is Physiological	216
8.3.2	Testosterone Can Turn Women into "Bag Bitches"	218
8.3.3	Brain Profiles: The Bear, the Monkey, and the Banana	219
8.3.4	Neurosciences and Career Path	223
8.3.5	Brain Profiles: Business Applications	225
8.4	Becoming a Better Version of Ourselves with Björn Borg	226
8.5	Serious Gaming: The 9 Principles of Engagement	229
8.6	The Influencers' Map Framework: The Montblanc Case	231
8.6.1	Mapping KOLs per Persona	231
8.6.2	A Congruent Ambassador	232
8.6.3	Prescribers, Influencers, and Collabs	233
8.7	The Future of Work Feat. HoloLens	234
8.7.1	HoloLens to Master your Craft	235

8.7.2	Hormonal Quotient [®] (HQ), Leadership, and Innovation	237
8.7.3	Sensory Do's and Don'ts in Workplace Design	241
8.7.4	Working in Extreme Conditions: The City of Doha Case	243
8.8	Take-Aways	244
	References	245
9	Sense of Touch, Vibration, and the Future of Human Experience (HX)	249
9.1	Introduction	249
9.2	What Makes Customers Switch to Another Product? The Toilet Paper Case	250
9.2.1	Objective vs. Subjective Feedback	250
9.2.2	Data Science at its Best	250
9.2.3	Toilet Paper Razzia Finally Explained	251
9.2.4	Do You Crumple or Fold?	251
9.3	Adding a Magic Touch to Customers' Experience	252
9.3.1	The Secrets of Touch	252
9.3.2	Vibrotactile Perception and Touch Profiles	255
9.3.3	Textures and the Perception of Softness	257
9.3.4	Salmon or Finger?	259
9.3.5	Touch Profiles: Business Applications	261
9.4	Li-Ning × Dwyane Wade Collab	262
9.5	Blacksocks.com, Socks as a Service	263
9.6	Core and Peripheral Services: The Weleda Case	265
9.6.1	Weleda, Natural Ingredients at its Core	265
9.6.2	Core Versus Peripheral Services	266
9.6.3	Spotting Core Features	267
9.7	The Future of Human Experience (HX) Feat. Devialet	269
9.7.1	Devialet: The Goosebumps Company	269
9.7.2	Sensory Overload vs. Flow: The Public Spaces Dilemma	272
9.7.3	Museums, Architecture, and Human Experience (HX)	273
9.8	Take-Aways	274
	References	275
10	Sound and Voice Perception, IoT, and the Future of Living	279
10.1	Introduction	279
10.2	What Makes a Market Shift? The Home Cinema Case	280
10.2.1	Music Fidelity	280
10.2.2	Competitive Benchmarking	280
10.2.3	Purchasing Barriers and Motivations	281
10.2.4	The Valley of Illusion	281

10.3	Amplifying Customers' Listening Experience	282
10.3.1	The Secrets of Sound Perception	282
10.3.2	Amplifier Profiles	285
10.3.3	Music Preferences: Are You Pop or Classical?	289
10.3.4	The Right Vibes	292
10.3.5	Amplifier Profiles: Business Applications	294
10.4	A Signature Sound: The Harley Davidson Case	294
10.5	A Silent Success: Tesla Motors	295
10.6	Brand Naming: The Story of Lancôme	296
10.6.1	Lancôme or Petitjean?	296
10.6.2	Brand Naming: The Skincare Case	298
10.6.3	Getting a Nickname	299
10.7	The Future of Living Feat. Alexa	300
10.7.1	Voice, the New Frontier with Alexa	300
10.7.2	Voice Strategies, Mist, and Smart Home Assistants	303
10.7.3	Toward a Connected Brain?	304
10.8	Take-Aways	307
	References	307
	Conclusion	311
	Index	315