Part I Introduction—Motivation and Research Setting

1	Motivation	3
2	Relevance	7
3	Overall Research Design	13
3.1	Research Questions	13
3.2	Research Approach	16
4	Structure of the Dissertation	23

Part II Theoretical Background—Service Robots in Retail Service Systems

5	Goal and Structure	29
6	Service-Dominant Logic as a Research Lens	31
6.1	Understanding Retail Functions	31
6.2	Contrasting Transaction Cost Theory and Service-Dominant Logic	33
6.3	Value Co-Creation from a Service-Dominant Logic Perspective	34
7	Service Systems as a Unit of Analysis	37
7.1	Understanding Service Systems	37
7.2	Defining the Retail Service System	39

8	Frontstage Service Technology Adoption	43
8.1	Traditional Theories of Technology Acceptance/Resistance	44
8.1.1	Technology Acceptance Theories	45
8.1.2	Technology Resistance Theories	46
8.2	Contemporary Service Robot Acceptance Models	47
8.3	Shortcomings of Current Technology Acceptance/Resistance Theories	48
9	Conclusion and Summary	51
 Part III Understanding Service Robots—Create a knowledge Base
10	Goal and Structure	57
11	Towards a Definition for Service Robots	61
12	Sub-study 1a: State of Technology	63
12.1	Research Design: Adapted Task-technology fit Approach	63
12.1.1	Preparation	65
12.1.2	Data Collection and Analysis	66
12.2	Findings	69
13	Sub-study 1b: State of Knowledge	73
13.1	Research Design: Systematic Literature Review	74
13.1.1	Data Collection	74
13.1.2	Data Analysis	75
13.2	Findings	77
14	Discussion and Implications	85
14.1	Theoretical Implications	85
14.2	Managerial Implications	86
15	Conclusion and Summary	89
 Part IV Understanding Customers—Interact with Service Robots
16	Goal and Structure	93
17	Conceptual Background: Customers' Access to Value Propositions	97

18	Sub-study 2a: Experimental Field Study	101
18.1	Research Design	102
18.1.1	Preparation of Service Robot use Cases	102
18.1.2	Data Collection	104
18.1.3	Data Analysis	105
18.2	Findings	106
19	Sub-study 2b: Exploratory Interview Study	109
19.1	Data Collection	110
19.2	Data Analysis	112
19.3	Findings	113
19.3.1	The Functional level	115
19.3.2	The Relational Level	115
19.3.3	The Organizational Level	117
20	Sub-study 2c: Short Survey and Questionnaire	119
20.1	Data Collection	120
20.2	Data Analysis	120
20.3	Findings	121
21	Sub-study 2d: Scale Development	123
21.1	Data Collection	123
21.2	Data Analysis	126
21.3	Findings	126
22	Discussion and Implications	131
22.1	Theoretical Implications	131
22.1.1	The Functional Level	133
22.1.2	The Relational Level	134
22.1.3	The Organizational Level	135
22.2	Managerial Implications	136
23	Conclusion and Summary	141
 Part V Understanding Frontstage Employees—Work with Service Robots
24	Goal and Structure	147
25	Conceptual Background: Frontstage Service Technologies	151
25.1	Frontstage Service Technologies and Frontstage Employees	151
25.2	The Impact of Service Robots on Service Interactions	153

26	Sub-study 3a: Exploratory Interview Study	155
26.1	Data Collection	155
26.2	Data Analysis	159
26.3	Findings	160
26.3.1	The Functional Level	161
26.3.2	The Relational Level	163
26.3.3	The Organizational Level	164
27	Sub-study 3b: Scale Development	167
27.1	Data collection	168
27.2	Data Analysis	170
27.3	Findings	171
28	Discussion and Implications	175
28.1	Theoretical Implications	175
28.1.1	The Functional Level	175
28.1.2	The Relational Level	176
28.1.3	The Organizational Level	177
28.2	Managerial Implications	178
29	Conclusion and Summary	181
 Part VI Understanding Retail Managers—Leverage Service Robots
30	Objective and Structure	185
31	Conceptual Background: Retail Managers' Boundary Role	189
32	Research Design: Exploratory Interview Study	191
32.1	Data Collection	191
32.2	Data Analysis	194
33	Findings	197
33.1	Antecedents to the Adoption of SRs	197
33.1.1	The Functional Level	198
33.1.2	The Relational Level	200
33.1.3	The Organizational Level	201
33.2	Responses to the Adoption of SRs	204
33.2.1	Transforming Frontstage Employees	205
33.2.2	Transforming Work Routines	206

34 Discussion and Implications	209
34.1 Theoretical Implications	209
34.1.1 The Functional Level	210
34.1.2 The Relational Level	210
34.1.3 The Organizational Level	211
34.2 Managerial Implications	212
35 Conclusion and Summary	215
 Part VII Orchestrating Retail Service Systems—Manage Service Robots
36 Goal and Structure	219
37 Conceptual Background: Synthesized Key Insights	223
37.1 Adoption Strategies	223
37.2 Conflicting Goals	225
37.3 Conflicting Potentials	226
38 Research Design	231
39 Requirement Derivation	235
39.1 Design Principles for the Artifact MARIE	235
39.2 Shortcomings of Current Technology Adoption Process Models	238
40 Initial Design of the Artifact MARIE	241
40.1 The Global Level	241
40.2 The Detailed Level	243
41 Evaluation of the Artifact MARIE	251
41.1 Phase 1: Artificial-Formative Evaluation	251
41.2 Phase 2: More Naturalistic-Formative Evaluation	254
42 Discussion and Implications	261
42.1 Theoretical Implications	261
42.2 Managerial Implications	263
43 Conclusion and Summary	265

Part VIII Concluding—Reflect Findings and Implications

44	Objective and Structure	269
45	Summary of Parts I–VII	271
45.1	Creating a Basis (Part I–III)	271
45.2	Understanding Key Stakeholders (Part IV–VI)	274
45.3	Orchestrating Retail Service Systems (Part VII)	277
46	Reflect Findings and Implications	279
46.1	Implications for Academia	279
46.2	Limitations and Future Research	282
47	Concluding Remarks	287
