

Contents

Abbreviations	11
----------------------------	-----------

Part I. Discretion of the administration in the application and interpretation of the law	13
1.1 Decision-based approach to law application processes	13
1.2 Determinants of the public administration actions	18
1.3 Position of the administration body in the law application process	24
1.4 Discretionary power of administering entities	26

Part II. Judicial review of administration – models and types of influence	35
2.1 Models of court control over administration in Europe	35
2.2 Model and scope of judicial review of administration in Poland	42
2.3 Classification of case law impacts on making administrative decisions – judgement as ‘restraint’, ‘driver’ and ‘guide-post’	53

Part III. Microscale of influence – impact on a single decision	59
3.1 Influence on process commencement	59
3.2 Determination of facts of an administrative case	66
3.3 Validating determinations of an administrative case and judicial practice	75
3.3.1 Operative interpretation and the catalogue of sources of the law	75
3.3.2 Influence of “precedents” on validation reasoning	78
3.3.3 A “precedent” as a source of a legal norm	82
3.4 Determination of the content of a legal norm	85
3.4.1 The influence of jurisprudence on the interpretation	85

- 3.4.2 “Contents” of general reference clauses 90
- 3.4.3 Pragmatic arguments for the consideration of rulings of administrative courts 92
- 3.5 Influence of jurisprudence on content of administrative decision 95
 - 3.5.1 Bound administrative decisions 95
 - 3.5.2 Administrative discretion 99
- Part IV. Macroscale of influence – administrative policies and governance processes vs. human rights 105
 - 4.1 Judicial decisions and administrative policies 105
 - 4.2 Governance processes vs. human rights – international courts influence (the ECHR example) 110
- Part V. Model approach 119
 - 5.1 Rationalized administrative decision 119
 - 5.2 Court’s influence on administrative decisions 123
 - 5.3 Rationalization of an administrative decision by means of a discourse 128
 - 5.4 Impact of rulings on public administration – optimization
postulates 133
- Conclusion 141