

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xi
Preface: Walking With Grace, Fighting With Courage: Lilia Monzó's Marxist Humanism by Peter McLaren	xv
Notes	xxv
Bibliography	xxvi
Chapter 1. An Introduction	1
A World of Unfreedoms	5
Capitalism: A System of Exploitation	9
Race, Class, and Gender: A Marxist-Humanist Approach	16
Hegel, Marx, and the Making of Freedom	20
Revolutionary Critical Pedagogy	23
Organization of the Book	26
Notes	28
Bibliography	32
Chapter 2. Indigenous Women and Women of Color on the Trenches of Freedom	37
Class and the Mode of Production	42
The Rise of Gender Exploitation and Class Relations	45

Industrialization and the Family	47
Coloniality, Slavery, and Primitive Accumulation	50
Whitestream Feminisms	56
Women of Color and Indigeneity in the Settler-Colonial State	62
Gender and Racialization Under Global Capitalism	67
Notes	71
Bibliography	74
 Chapter 3. Marx on Women, Non-Western Societies, and Liberation: Challenging Misconceptions
Marx on Women, the Family, and Gender Relations	79
“Productive” and “Unproductive” Labor	81
Marx on Racism, Family, and the Revolutionary Potential of Non-Western Societies	86
Marx’s Humanism and a New Society	90
Notes	98
Bibliography	99
 Chapter 4. In Search of Freedom: My Road to Marx	101
Capitalist Delusions: The Immigrant Narrative Confronted	103
On Feminist Understandings and the Right to Speak	107
In Survival Mode—Race and Gender as Class Warfare	110
A Colonial Legacy	115
New Hope and New Courage	120
Notes	125
Bibliography	134
 Chapter 5. Women Making Revolutionary History	135
Women as Revolutionary Spark and Motor	137
The Paris Commune	138
The Russian Revolution	139
Consciousness as Their Driving Force	141
Organizing for Mass Support: Assata Shakur and the Black Panther Party	142
The Revolutionary Writing of Ding Ling	145
Women in Leadership: Celia Sanchez and the Cuban Revolution	150
	155

Women in Combat: Zhao Yiman	158
Indigenous Women and Women of Color
Practicing Horizontalism	160
The Zapatistas	161
Rojava	164
Black Lives Matter	167
Invisible Oppressions: Race, LGBTQIA, and
Other Intersections	170
Challenging Backseat Politics	171
Notes	173
Bibliography	177
Chapter 6. En la Lucha Siempre: Chicanx/Boricua/Latinx Women as
Revolutionary Subjects	181
The Revolutionary Subject	184
Boricua, Chicanx, and Latinx Women en Acción	187
Latinx Women Activists	188
Marisol: Activista de su comunidad	190
Cheyenne: A Native Womxn's Story	192
Martha: Indocumentada e invencible	195
Anaida: Toda una vida en acción	197
Learning From Chicanx/Boricua/Latinx
Women's Stories	201
Notes	203
Bibliography	204
Chapter 7. Gendered and Racialized Capital: Tensions and Alliances	205
Capitalism, Colonialism, and Racialization: Toward a Unitary Theory	207
A Contested Terrain	212
Race, Whiteness, and the Model Minority Myth	217
Criminalizing Migration	222
Building Solidarity and Remaking the World	231
Notes	232
Bibliography	235
Chapter 8. Pedagogy of Dreaming	239
Why Dreaming?	246
Dreaming as Epistemology: Challenging Temporal
“Rationality” and the Politics of Now	251

Dialogue Beyond Words: Finding the Silence That Let the Other Speak	254
Red Love: Beyond the Bourgeois Family	259
Walking With Grace: Musings From This Latinx Woman of Color	263
Notes	272
Bibliography	274
Appendix: Martha: Undocumented and Invincible	277
Note	279
Index	281