

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgements	xi
List of Abbreviations	xiii
INTRODUCTION
A geography of extra-territorial citizenship through memory	i
PART I From the Caribbean migration space to the French-British context: Circularity, creolization and the spatial practices of belonging 15
CHAPTER 1
Encountering Caribbean memory in a pattern of dependency, independency and interdependency	17
CHAPTER 2
Decolonial mapping of Haiti and Jamaica: Memory, labour and mobility	39
CHAPTER 3
Framing Jamaican 'community' in imperial landscapes: Citizenship, religious bonds and returns	59

CHAPTER 4
Beyond French Republicanism? Locating in/visible Haitian spaces	81
PART II
The making of a transnational citizenship: A new dialectic between memory and civic engagement	95
CHAPTER 5
Imagining associative spaces in the French-British setting	97
CHAPTER 6
Community engagements, solidarity funds and politics of memory	117
CHAPTER 7
Rearranging the past to present: The spatial dimension of development	147
CHAPTER 8
Narratives of remembrance and Caribbean lessons in post-earthquake Haiti	167
Conclusion	187
Bibliography	193
Index	239