

Contents

Illustrations	xiii
1 Walls of Paris	1
1.1 Rive Droite and Rive Gauche: Anthony Sutcliffe, The Autumn of Central Paris , 1970	4
1.2 Gallo-Roman Lutetia, 52 BC–4C	6
1.2.1 River and Marsh of Lutetia: Gaius Julius Caesar, The Conquest of Gaul , 59–44 BC	6
1.2.2 Cardo Maximus in Orthogonal Lutetia, 2–4C	8
1.2.3 Roman and Gallic Cohabitation: Lutetia in Astérix , 1962–1972	11
1.3 Christianity in Paris: Figuring the Invisible	12
1.3.1 Saint Denis the Cephalophore: Jacobus de Voragine, The Golden Legend or Lives of the Saints , 1275	12
1.3.2 Literal and Figural Walls: Moine Yves, Life of Saint Denis , 1317	14
1.4 Barbarian Invasions: Geneviève, Clotilde and Clovis, c. 500	17
1.4.1 Geneviève, Guardian of the Walls: Life of Sainte Geneviève , 520	17
1.4.2 Clovis, First Catholic King of France	20

1.5	Medieval Paris: Philippe Auguste and Charles V Walls, 1213 and 1383	24
1.5.1	The New King Enters the City	24
1.5.2	Allegories of the Garden Wall: Guillaume de Lorris, The Romance of the Rose , 1237–75	29
1.6	Classical and Modern Paris: From Walls to Boulevards and Périphérique	32
1.6.1	Expanding to the West: Louis XIII Wall of the Fossés Jaunes, 1634; Mathieu Merian, Le Plan de la Ville , 1615	32
1.6.2	Unpopular 18C Farmers-General Wall, 1784–91: Maurice-Antoine Moithey, Plan des enceintes de Paris , 1787	32
1.6.3	Haussmann's 19C Restructuration of Paris: Edouard Dumas Vorzet, Paris and Its Surroundings , 1878	34
1.6.4	Modern Paris and Beyond	36
2	Gothic Paris: Notre-Dame and the Île de la Cité	43
2.1	The Gothic Experience of Light	47
2.1.1	What Is an Esthetic Experience?	47
2.1.2	The Anagogical Path to Light: Abbot Suger, On What Was Done During His Administration , 1144–48	48
2.1.3	Flexible Gothic Arch: Sir Banister Fletcher, A History of Architecture on the Comparative Method , 1896	52
2.2	Île de la Cité, East Side: Religious Power	56
2.2.1	Gothic Notre-Dame, 1163–1245	58
2.2.2	Comparison of Romanesque Saint-Germain-des-Prés, 990–1014, and Gothic Notre-Dame, 1163–1245	62
2.2.3	Notre-Dame's Portal of the Last Judgment: Hoffbauer, Paris à travers les âges , 1998	64
2.2.4	Rose Windows at Notre-Dame	71
2.3	Abélard and Héloïse: To Teach and Punish	76
2.4	Île de la Cité, West Side: Political Power	80
2.5	Pissing the Parisians Off: François Rabelais, Gargantua , 1534	85

3	Renaissance Paris: Wars of Religion and the Louvre	89
3.1	Learning from Antiquity	94
3.1.1	Perfected Beauty: Leone Battista Alberti, Ten Books on Architecture , 1452	94
3.1.2	The Human Body, Model of Proportion: Leonardo da Vinci, The Vitruvian Man , 1487	99
3.2	Renaissance Architecture: The Louvre, 13–20C	103
3.2.1	Medieval Louvre: From Fortress to Castle, 13–14C	103
3.2.2	From Medieval Castle to Renaissance Palace	105
3.2.3	Henri IV and His Grand Dessein for the Louvre	109
3.2.4	Louvre Outline, 13–20C	110
3.3	Renaissance Literature: The Pléiade Poets	113
3.3.1	Pierre de Ronsard, “Ode to Cassandre,” 1552	113
3.3.2	Portrait of Ronsard and Cassandre, 1552	117
3.3.3	Pierre de Ronsard, “On the Death of Marie,” 1578	118
3.4	Wars of Religion: The Saint-Bartholomew Massacre, August 24, 1572	120
3.4.1	Margot’s Dissolution: Patrice Chéreau, Queen Margot , 1994	121
3.4.2	Architectural, Political and Anatomical Fragmentation: François Dubois, The Saint-Bartholomew Massacre , 1575–84	122
3.4.3	Protestant and Catholic Reversible Bodies: Agrippa d’Aubigné, Les Tragiques , 1577–1616	125
3.5	Henri IV and the Freedom of Conscience	127
3.5.1	Le Bon Roi Henri	127
3.5.2	Henri IV’s Program for a Renaissance Paris	132
4	Classical Paris: Louis XIV and Versailles	137
4.1	The Cogito in Perspective	141
4.1.1	Clouds in Brunelleschi’s Experiment: Antonio Manetti, The Life of Brunelleschi , 1480	141
4.1.2	Rationalism and Subjectivity: René Descartes, Discourse on Method , 1637	145
4.2	Louis XIV and Absolutism	148
4.2.1	Constructing the Image of a King: Roberto Rossellini, The Taking of Power by Louis XIV , 1966	148
4.2.2	Louis XIV as the Sun King: Louis XIV, Memoirs for the Instruction of the Dauphin , 1662	150

	4.2.3	The King's Two Bodies: Hyacinthe Rigaud, Louis XIV in Coronation Dress , 1701	152
4.3		Louis XIV in Paris	152
	4.3.1	Perrault's Colonnade, Model of French Classicism	154
	4.3.2	Unstable Center: Jules Hardouin-Mansart, Place Vendôme, 1699	155
	4.3.3	For His Veteran Soldiers: Libéral Bruant, Les Invalides, 1671–91, and Jules Hardouin Mansart, Dôme, 1708	158
	4.3.4	Gossiping as a Form of Knowledge: Madame de Sévigné, Letters , July 17, 1676	160
4.4		Perspective on Versailles	161
	4.4.1	Enveloping a Hunting Castle: Louis Le Vau, Versailles, 1661–78	161
	4.4.2	Rationalist Baroque Landscaping: André Le Nôtre, Versailles Gardens, 1661–70	164
	4.4.3	Lavish Baroque Palace within: Jules Hardouin- Mansart, Expansion of Versailles, 1678–1715	168
	4.4.4	The Disastrous Addition of Prestigious Hall of Mirrors	172
	4.4.5	The Crumbling Image of an Aging King: Jean de La Bruyère, The Characters , 1688–96	175
5		Romantic Paris: Napoléon and the Arc de Triomphe	179
	5.1	The Empire of Napoléon I	181
		5.1.1 Napoléon and Joséphine: Abel Gance, Napoléon , 1927	181
		5.1.2 Napoléon and His Siblings	182
		5.1.3 Legitimizing a French Emperor: Jacques-Louis David, The Coronation of Napoléon , 1805–08	185
		5.1.4 Napoléon's Cruciform Perspective: Anthony Sutcliffe, Paris, an Architectural History , 1993	187
	5.2	The Exalted and Melancholy Romantic Soul: Madame de Staël, Of Literature , 1800	194
	5.3	Romantic Art: The Call to Freedom. Eugène Delacroix, Liberty Leading the People , 1830	195
	5.4	Romantic Architecture: Ambition of Glory	197
		5.4.1 For the Grande Armée: Jean-Arnaud Raymond and Jean-François Chalgrin, Arc de Triomphe, 1806–36	197

	5.4.2	Aux Armes: François Rude, The Marseillaise , 1836	198
	5.4.3	The Anti-Hero: Eric Rohmer, "Place de l'Étoile" in Six à Paris , 1965	200
	5.5	Romantic Literature: Gavroche Jumping Over Walls. Victor Hugo, Les Misérables , 1862	200
6		Realism in Haussmann's Paris	223
	6.1	The Second Empire	225
	6.1.1	Napoléon III and Efficacious Baron Haussmann	225
	6.1.2	Implementing an Emperor's Vision: Baron Haussmann, Mémoires , 1890	226
	6.2	Realism in Literature: A Misery without Poetry. Honoré de Balzac, Old Goriot , 1834	230
	6.3	Realism in Art: Turning One's Back on a Nude. Gustave Courbet, The Painter's Studio , 1855	237
	6.4	Eclectic and Rationalist Architecture during the Second Empire	238
	6.4.1	For a Truthful Architecture: Eugène-Emmanuel Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire raisonné , 1854	238
	6.4.2	A Frankly Revealed Structure: Henri Labrouste, the Bibliothèque Nationale, 1862–68	242
	6.4.3	Eclectic Architecture: Charles Garnier, the Opéra Garnier, 1861–74	246
	6.5	Paris under Construction	249
	6.5.1	Haussmann's Ruthless Restructuration of Paris	249
	6.5.2	The Naturalist School: Paris Under Attack. Emile Zola, The Kill , 1872	254
	6.5.3	Paris as a Recumbent Bourgeoise: Edmond Morin, The City of Paris Invaded by Demolition Workers , 19C	257
	6.5.4	Artificial, yet Charming, Bois de Boulogne	257
7		Impressionism and the Tour Eiffel	263
	7.1	Impressionism in Art: Modern Life in the Plein Air	267
	7.1.1	The Dismissed Message: Edouard Manet, The Luncheon on the Grass , 1863	267
	7.1.2	Incognito Flâneur at the Gare Saint-Lazare: Gustave Caillebotte, On the Pont de l'Europe , 1880	268
	7.1.3	Shapeless Strokes and Extreme Perspective: Claude Monet, Impression, Sunrise , 1874	274

7.1.4	In the Deluge of the Plein Air: Stéphane Mallarmé, “The Impressionists and Edouard Manet,” 1876	278
7.2	Impressionist Literature: The Beholder’s Individual Impression	283
7.2.1	Literary Tableaux: Emile Zola, The Human Beast , 1890	283
7.2.2	Machine-Produced Clouds: Jean Renoir, La Bête humaine , 1938	286
7.3	Universal Expositions	287
7.3.1	The Committee of the Three Hundred: Norma Evenson, Paris: A Century of Change , 1878–1978, 1979	288
7.3.2	Promenade along the Seine: Universal Expositions	291
7.3.3	Art Nouveau’s Dragonflies and Lilies: Hector Guimard, Metro Stations Entrances, 1900	292
7.4	Impressionist Architecture: The Ultimate Plein Air Building	294
7.4.1	Elusive and Scandalous Tour Eiffel: Roland Barthes, The Eiffel Tower and Other Mythologies , 1957	294
7.4.2	A Bridge to the Sky: Georges Seurat, The Eiffel Tower , 1889	296
8	Cubism and Modern Architecture in Paris	299
8.1	Cubism in Art: Incorporating Time	303
8.1.1	An Art of Conception: Guillaume Apollinaire, “Modern Painting,” 1913	303
8.1.2	Unfolding Geometric Surfaces and Shifting Perspectives: Pablo Picasso, Portrait of Ambroise Vollard , 1910, and Violin , 1914	304
8.1.3	Clouds Descending on the City: Robert Delaunay, The City of Paris , 1912	307
8.2	Cubism in Literature: Disregarding Boundaries	310
8.2.1	Guillaume Apollinaire, Windows , 1912	310
8.2.2	Guillaume Apollinaire, Calligram of the Tour Eiffel , 1918	312

8.3	Modern Architecture: From Masonry Wall to Reinforced Concrete Frame	313
8.3.1	Exposing Concrete: Auguste Perret, Apartments at 25b, Rue Franklin, 1904	313
8.3.2	The Power to Move: Le Corbusier, Towards a New Architecture , 1927	316
8.3.3	Free Plan and Free Facade: Le Corbusier, "The Five Points of a New Architecture," 1926	318
8.3.4	Cubist Man in Movement: Le Corbusier, The Modulor, 1938–48	321
8.3.5	Architectural Promenade: Le Corbusier, Villas La Roche-Jeanneret, 1923–25	322
8.4	Cubist Architecture: Le Corbusier, The Villa Savoye, 1928–31	327
9	Beaubourg and Postmodern Paris	337
9.1	What Is Postmodernism? Jean-François Lyotard, The Postmodern Condition , 1979	341
9.2	Sixties and Seventies: Disillusion with Modernism	345
9.2.1	Reaffirming France's Prestige: Charles de Gaulle, Complete War Memoirs , 1940–1946, 1954	345
9.2.2	Against a Manhattanization of Paris: Louis Chevalier, The Assassination of Paris , 1977	347
9.2.3	The Tired Hero of Modern Life: Jean Rouch, "Gare du Nord," in Six à Paris , 1965	350
9.2.4	Surrealist Siren of the Seine: André Breton, "Pont Neuf," 1950	351
9.2.5	Nostalgia for a Pre-modern Paris: Woody Allen, Midnight in Paris , 2011	355
9.3	Postmodern Paris: The Beaubourg Provocation	357
9.3.1	Architecture as a Language: Charles Jencks, The Language of Post-Modern Architecture , 1977	357
9.3.2	Postmodernism in Beaubourg: Renzo Piano and Richard Rogers, Beaubourg/Pompidou Center, 1977	360
9.3.3	Beaubourg the Cyborg: Sergio Birga, Main Basse sur la ville , 1976	365
9.3.4	Beaubourg the Extra-terrestrial: Georges Pérec, "Tout autour de Beaubourg," 1981	367

10	Grands Travaux and Beyond	369
10.1	The Mitterrand Years: Reviving the Monarch-Builder Tradition	373
10.2	Grands Travaux on the Axe historique: Neomodern Monumentality	377
10.2.1	Cube and Clouds: Johan Otto von Spreckelsen, Grande Arche de la Défense, 1989	377
10.2.2	The Grande Arche Paradigm: Seloua Luste Boulbina, Grands Travaux à Paris: 1981–1995 , 2007	379
10.2.3	From Palace to Museum: The Grand Louvre, 1989	382
10.2.4	A Sovereign Act: Jack Lang, Dictionnaire amoureux de François Mitterrand , 2015	384
10.2.5	An Archaic Novelty: Ieoh Ming Pei, Pyramide du Louvre, 1989	386
10.3	Grands Travaux at the East: Spreading Culture	387
10.3.1	A Monument for Paris Rive Gauche: Dominique Perrault, Bibliothèque Nationale de France, 1997	387
10.3.2	Transparency in Question: Anthony Vidler, The Architectural Uncanny , 1999	390
10.3.3	Promenade: The Bercy Quarter	392
10.4	On the Margin	393
10.4.1	Underprivileged Banlieue	393
10.4.2	Inhospitable Périphérique: Parc de la Villette, 1986–2015	395
10.4.3	Angry with No Job and a Gun: Mathieu Kassovitz, Hate , 1995	401
10.4.4	For a Beurette Literature: Faïza Guène, Kiffe Kiffe Tomorrow , 2004	403
	Illustration Credits	407