

Table of Contents

Preface.....	7
Source note	9
I. Semantic Loops.....	11
II. Logic as Calculus vs. Logic as Universal Medium, and Syntax vs. Semantics.....	25
III. Do We Need to Reform the Old T-Scheme?	35
IV. Truth is Eternal if and only if It is Sempiternal	45
V. Is Identity a Logical Constant and are there Accidental Identities?	51
VI. Naturalism and Genesis of Logic.....	57
VII. Some Analogies between Normative and Epistemic Discourse.....	71
VIII. Theology and Logic	87
IX. Ens et Verum Convertuntur (Are Being and Truth Convertible)? A Contemporary Perspective.....	107
X. An Abstract Approach to Bivalence.....	115
XI. Philosophical Reflections on Logic, Proof and Truth	125
XII. Constructivism and Metamathematics	135
XIII. Rule-Following and Logic	145

XIV. Truth-Makers and Convention T	155
XV. An Analysis Of Logical Determinism.....	161
XVI. Normativity of Logic	177
XVII. Formal and Informal Aspects of the Semantic Theory of Truth.....	195
XVIII. The Paradox of Analycity and Related Issues.....	205
XIX. Some Liar-Like Paradoxes.....	209
XX. Appendix Nothingness, Philosophy and Keret's House	215
Bibliography	231
Index of Names	249
Index of Subjects.....	255