

Contents

Introduction.....	ix
Susan Drucker and Dale Herbeck
Part One: Community and Communication	1
Chapter One: Mass Culture Theories: Dodger Stadium or The House that Ruthlessness Built	3
Vincent Brook
Chapter Two: Collective Memory: Citi Field, Urban Renewal and Communication.....	23
Susan J. Drucker and Gary Gumpert
Chapter Three: Discourse Communities: Rickwood Field as a Symbol of Segregation and Healing	45
Larry Powell, Jonathan Amsbary and Justin R. Johnston
Part Two: Fandom and Communication	61
Chapter Four: Media Determinism: Yankee Stadium and the E-Mediafication of the Baseball Stadium	63
Harvey Jassem

Chapter Five: Communication Freedoms and Limitations: Citizens
Bank Park, Heckling and the First Amendment..... 87
Juliet Dee

Chapter Six: Symbolic Interactionism: Yogi Berra Stadium and the Minor
League Ballpark Experience 109
Lewis Freeman

Chapter Seven: General Semantics: Japan’s Koshien Stadium and
Time-Binding Bushido..... 131
Michael H. Plugh

Part Three: Memory and Communication 145

Chapter Eight: Public Memory Theory: On Remembering and Forgetting
Old Tiger Stadium 147
Anthony C. Cavaiani

Chapter Nine: Phenomenology and The Phantom Stadia Phenomenon:
Forbes Field and Comiskey Park Remembered 167
Erik Garrett and Alexander Regina

Chapter Ten: Narrative Theory: Building the Legacy of the Pittsburgh
Pirates through PNC Park..... 187
Jean Ann Streiff

Part Four: Commodification and Communication 207

Chapter Eleven: Ritual View of Communication Theory: The Houston
Astrodome and The Evolution of Stadium Construction..... 209
Robert Trumpbour

Chapter Twelve: Transformational Communication: Wrapping Wrigley
Field In a New Package..... 233
Adam Grossman

Chapter Thirteen: The Extended Self and Sports Marketing:
The Opening of Jacobs Field..... 257
Thomas R. Flynn and Pennilane Carlisle

Contributors..... 271

Stadium Index..... 279

Index..... 281