

Contents

Figures	ix
---------	----

MARKWART HERZOG

Introduction

Football: A Myth Machine. The Second World War, National Socialism and Anti-fascism	1
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	---

PART I Greater German Reich	41
-----------------------------	----

ULRICH MATHEJA

1 The German National Team: From the Last International Match During the War in 1942 to the First Postwar International Match in 1950	43
---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

DAVID FORSTER AND GEORG SPITALER

2 Viennese Football Players and the German Wehrmacht: Between 'Duty' and Evasion	65
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

WALTER M. IBER AND HARALD KNOLL

3 Football in Graz during the Second World War: The Traditional Clubs SK Sturm and GAK from 1939 to 1945	95
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

PART II Allied and Neutral Countries	123
--------------------------------------	-----

JÜRGEN ACKERMANN

4 Between Political Instrumentalization and Escapism: Spanish Football during the Second World War	125
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----

MARCO IMPIGLIA

- 5 Football in Rome during the German and Anglo-American Occupation (1943–1945) 149

CHRISTIAN KOLLER

- 6 Neutrality as the Norm? Football and Politics in Switzerland
during the First and Second World Wars 179

GRÉGORY QUIN AND PHILIPPE VONNARD

- 7 Switzerland's International Matches during the Second World War: Sport and Politics, Continuities and Traditions 209

PART III Great Britain and Mandated Territories 233

FABIAN BRÄNDLE

- 8 War Heroes or 'D-Day Dodgers'?
English 'Wartime Football' 235

GARY ARMSTRONG AND MATTHEW BELL

- 9 Bombs on Seats: Football and the Consequences of War in an English City 255

MANFRED LÄMMER AND HAIM KAUFMANN

- 10 Football in the British Mandate for Palestine during the Second World War 279

PART IV Eastern European Countries 297

ALEXANDER FRIEDMAN

- 11 Football in the Occupied Soviet Territories: Leisure and Entertainment, Sport and Health, Politics and Ideology 299

MARYNA KRUGLIAK AND OLEKSANDR KRUGLIAK

- 12 Football during the Nazi Occupation of Kiev:
A Contribution to the History and the Historical Context of the So-Called Death Match in Kiev 315

VICTOR YAKOVENKO

- 13 Football in Occupied Zhytomyr (1941–1943):
An Oasis of Normality amid War, Occupation and Genocide 341

DEJAN ZEC

- 14 Football in Occupied Serbia (1941–1944) 351

THOMAS URBAN

- 15 Football ‘Only for Germans’, in the Underground and in Auschwitz: Championships in Occupied Poland 367

- PART V Football during the War as a Subject of the Arts 389

MARTIN HOFFMANN

- 16 Football on the Front Line: The Silver Tassie, an Opera by Mark-Anthony Turnage 391

MARKWART HERZOG

- 17 Football as Politically Neutral Entertainment during the Nazi War: Content and Impact of Robert Adolf Stemmle’s
Romantic Football Movie Das große Spiel 403

JAN TILMAN SCHWAB

- 18 The Kiev Death Match: A Myth and Its Various Manifestations in Cinematic and Literary Works 447

Abbreviations and Short Terms	493
Authors and Editors	497
Index	499