

Content | Inhalt

Introduction	8
Part 1: Stories from Women in Exile.	11
“Making our voices loud and clear” – Organizing for Freedom of Movement and Against Vouchers	12
WOMEN IN EXILE & FRIENDS – CHRONOLOGY.	12
Bethi.	19
Florence: Who lives under that law without breaking it?	37
Conversation with Caro	71
Conversation with Christelle.	73
“She is a runner, running from the cruel world but still unknowingly running towards a different cruelty” Making a Way to Europe.	75
Jas	75
Mu	77
Halima	79
Sauda	82
Sylvie.	83
Natural Girl (Christina)	84
“Who knew I could do this?” Empowering Each Other . . .	117
Doris	117
Amal: Women in Exile Feels Like Home to Me	120
Mama from Cameroon.	121
Marjan.	123
Sarah.	124
Jane	126
“Later I learned the surgery was the removal of my uterus” Struggling for Reproductive Justice	131
Jane	131
Jade	132
Tayeba	134

Part 2: Conversations of Children, Friends and Our Network 136

“Und da saßen wir dann am Ende an so ‘nem riesigen Tisch.”
Conversations With Children. 137

Gespräch zwischen Khongith (17) und Peer 137
Gespräch zwischen Manu (12) und Peer 142
Conversation Between Malikia (11), Neema (8), and Bethi 145

“Friendship means having someone in heart”
Conversations Among the Friends 150

Gespräch mit Almut über Women in Exile & Friends 163

“We should rely more on Women in Exile’s networks and resources, and not assume that they are dependent on us.”
Conversation with Our Network. 167

Kinderbetreuungs-Kollektiv Berlin 167
For a New Feminist Movement for Reproductive Justice – Our Collaboration with Women in Exile by Derya Binişik, Programme
Officer at Gunda Werner Institute 176
Gisela Notz: Eine außergewöhnliche Beziehung 177
Initiative Potsdam-Konvoi: Letter to Women* in Exile. 178
Pro Bleiberecht: Women in Exile auf Tour durch Meck-Pomm . . 179
Seebrücke Potsdam 180
Gulzat, Ute and Njambi from NINA about “Feminist Connect” . . 180

Part 3

Conversations About. 184

ADEFRA: Practicing Intersectional Solidarity Under Conditions of Heightened Vulnerability 185

Vanessa Eileen Thompson: Women in Exile – Abolitionist
Feminist Activism and World Making 187

Solange: “Slavery has quite simply changed form, but remains the same in substance” – On Over-Exploitation 190

Margrit Schiller: „In der Existenz der Geflüchteten wird sichtbar, was unsichtbar bleiben soll.“ 192

Bethi and Do:
From “Personal Problems” to Political Activism 195

MANIFESTO. 199

Women in Exile 200

Demands. 202

Contacts, Networks & Addresses 203