

Contents

Jacob P.B. Mortensen and Mikael Brorson The Gospel of Mark in the Context of Ancient Greco-Roman Education – A Search for Comparable Genres	7
Tobias Hägerland Reminiscences True, Noble and Beneficial: Mark 2:1–3:6 in the Light of Theon’s Chreia Exercises	17
Justin Strong The Markan ‘Parables’ and Ancient Rhetorical Theories of Fable and Comparison	37
Joel Kuhlin Suturing Episodes: Jesus’ Death, διήγησις and διήγημα in Mk. 15:16–32	63
Maria Stureson Ekphrasis and The Gospel of Mark. The Women, the Tomb, and the White-dressed Youngster	89
Sigurvin Lárus Jónsson Mark and Speech-in-Character	101
Jacob P.B. Mortensen Mark 5:21–43 as a Progymnastic Comparison	117
Helen K. Bond Mark as a Biography (bios) of a Philosopher	135

Eve-Marie Becker
Markus, der Historiograph. Ein Beitrag zum Autorschaftskonzept der frühesten Evangelienschrift	155
Matthew D. C. Larsen
According to Mark as Hypomnēmata : From Working Document to Pre-Literary Notes	171
Sylvie Honigman
Mark's Gospel as a cultic biography in the tradition of the Judean and Demotic stories narrativizing knowledge	189
John Van Maaren
Constructing Mark's Social Setting: Fissures in Gentile Mark; Blueprints for Jewish Mark	211
Author index	227
Subject index	231
Index of Scriptures	235