

Contents

Acknowledgements 9

Introduction 11

1 Early Beginnings 23

1.1 Automimesis in the Greek Theatre 23 || 1.2 A Man's Speech is Just Like his Life 27

2 Differences in Style 31

2.1 The Painter's Workshop in Humanist Writing 35 || 2.2 The Discovery of the Individual maniera 38 || 2.3 Ogni pittore dipinge sé 43 || 2.4 The Appreciation of Personal Style 67 || 2.5 Metaphors of Artistic Progress 86

3 Selective Imitation and Repetition 93

3.1 Art Historiography in Quattrocento Florence 95 || 3.2 Varietas as Category of the Humanist Art Critic 98 || 3.3 Medieval Artists and the Animal Instinct 101 || 3.4 Perugino as Negative Example 104 || 3.5 Michelangelo and the Female Body 110 || 3.6 Human Variety and the Effects of Love 126

4 Giorgio Vasari's Vite and Automimesis 143

4.1 Art History and Biography 145 || 4.2 The Artwork as a Reflection of the Artist's Mind 150 || 4.3 Rhetorical Strategies for the Description of Style 157 || 4.4 Physiognomic Theory 161 || 4.5 Artistic Procreativity 167 || 4.6 Michelangelo's Mouse. Who is an Artist? 174

5 Artistic Strategies Against Automimesis 189

5.1 Fighting One's Own Inclinations 189 || 5.2 Artistic Narcissism 198 || 5.3 Apelles and the Use of Collective Intelligence 202 || 5.4 The Use of Mirrors and Time 208

6 The Harmonisation of the Arts 217

6.1 Benvenuto Cellini's Self-Portrait as an Eloquent Artist 217 ||

6.2 Vincenzo Borghini's Selva di notizie 221 || 6.3 Ethical and

Intellectual Qualities of the Artist 224 || 6.4 Rationalizing Mimesis:

The Accademia del Disegno 232 || 6.5 The Death of the Sculptor

Perillus 236

7 Art and Artist in the Age of the Counter-Reformation 243

7.1 The Ideal of the artefice cristiano 243 || 7.2 Characteristics of

Religious Paintings 249 || 7.3 Francesco Bocchi and the immagine mira-

colosa 251 || 7.4 The Afterlife of Ogni pittore dipinge sé 255

Conclusion 263

List of Illustrations and Copyright Remarks 269

Bibliography 273

Primary Sources 273 || Secondary Sources 277

Index of Names 293