

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgements — VII

1	Opening the Gospel — 1
1.1	Inscribing a Divining Gospel — 1
1.2	Christians and Their Books — 3
1.2.1	A Bookish Religion — 3
1.2.2	Books Dynamic in Form and Impact — 4
1.3	Books as Objects — 6
1.3.1	Materiality and Meaning — 6
1.3.2	A Case Study: Gewargis' Complex Book — 7
1.4	Sacred Books as Objects of Power — 8
1.4.1	Inscribing Amulets with Scriptural Potency — 9
1.4.2	Magic or Christian Ritual? — 10
1.4.3	Ambivalent Attitudes Towards Popular Religious Practices Involving Scriptural Artifacts — 11
1.5	Elf-Charms, Incubi, and Codex-Relics: John's Gospel in Popular Imagination and Ritual Use — 14
1.6	Divining Gospel: An Overview — 17
1.6.1	The Unique Character of the Syriac Version — 17
1.6.2	The Plan of the Present Study — 18
2	Divination in Late Antique Christian Practice — 21
2.1	Tollo, Lege : A Famous Instance of Christian Sortilege — 21
2.2	Dealing with Uncertainty: Patterns of Ancient Divination — 22
2.2.1	Reading the Signs for Direction — 22
2.2.2	The Technologies of Text-Based Divination — 25
2.2.3	Scribes and Seers: Oracles as Literary Tradition and Manteis as Interpreters — 27
2.2.4	Christian Appropriation of Text-Based Divination — 30
2.3	Christian Divination and Sortilege — 31
2.3.1	Knowledge from God, Knowledge for God — 31
2.3.2	Sortes Biblicae — 32
2.3.3	Christian Ticket Oracles and Shrines — 33
2.3.4	Christianized "Books of Fate" — 33
2.3.5	Lot Divination Texts with General Answers — 35
2.3.6	Lot Divination Texts with Hermêneiai — 38
2.4	Proscribing Text-Based Divination — 43
2.5	Contested Practice, Marginal Books — 48
3	Divining Gospels: A Suppressed and Neglected Genre — 51
3.1	Using the Christian Gospels for Divination — 51
3.2	"Silly Apophthegms:" Hermêneiai and the Divining Gospel in Modern Scholarship — 52
3.3	Erased and Broken: The Fragmentary Evidence for Ancient Divining Gospels — 57
3.3.1	Overview of Manuscripts — 58
3.3.2	Manuscripts with Original Sortilege Material and Segmented Layout — 60
3.3.3	Manuscript with Original Hermêneiai and Integrated Layout — 69
3.3.4	Manuscripts with Secondary Hermêneiai — 69
3.3.5	Manuscripts with Uncertain Connection to the Divining Gospel Tradition — 76
3.4	A Shared Tradition — 78
3.5	Books Exceptional in Form, Content, and Function — 83

- 4 “Fearsome and Terrible Word of God:” A Closer Look at the Form and History of The Syriac Codex — 85
 - 4.1 Listening in on the Story of an Old Book — 85
 - 4.2 Origins of a Divining Gospel — 87
 - 4.2.1 Basic Characteristics of London, BL, Add. 17,119 — 87
 - 4.2.2 Vague Clues: The Manuscript’s Concluding Notes — 90
 - 4.3 Correction, Repair, and Loss — 91
 - 4.3.1 Ownership and Early Annotation — 91
 - 4.3.2 Guardians of the Gospel — 92
 - 4.3.3 Missing Leaves and Mixed Priorities — 93
 - 4.3.4 Into the Modern Era — 95
 - 4.4 Interpreting the Codex as Material Object within a Living Tradition — 95

- 5 “You Will Find What You Seek:” The Divinatory Material of the Syriac Codex — 97
 - 5.1 Presenting the Syriac Text — 97
 - 5.2 The Translation — 97
 - 5.3 Parallel Non-Syriac Sources — 99
 - 5.4 Puššāqē of a Syriac Divining Gospel (London, BL, Add. 17,119) — 101

- 6 Interpreting Hermeneia: The Use and Function of the Divining Gospel — 155
 - 6.1 The Character of the Puššāqē — 155
 - 6.1.1 Basic Features of the Syriac Oracles — 155
 - 6.1.2 Divinatory Function of the Hermēneiai — 156
 - 6.1.3 Divination and Liturgy — 158
 - 6.2 Themes and Topics — 161
 - 6.3 Origins of the Apparatus — 163
 - 6.4 The Divining Gospel in Practice — 165
 - 6.4.1 Mechanisms of Sortilege in Late Antiquity and the Hermēneiai — 165
 - 6.4.2 The Wheel of Codex Sangermanensis — 168
 - 6.4.3 Flawed but Functional Tools — 172
 - 6.5 Picturing the Use of a Divining Gospel — 173

- 7 Oracles of Biblical Interpretation: Examining the Relationship between Divination, John’s Gospel, and the User — 177
 - 7.1 Puššāqā as Interpretation — 177
 - 7.1.1 The Vocabulary of Lot Divination — 177
 - 7.1.2 Divining as Interpretation — 178
 - 7.2 Interpreting the Gospel of John — 180
 - 7.2.1 Thematic Resonances with the Gospel of John — 181
 - 7.2.2 Direct Quotation from John’s Gospel — 183
 - 7.2.3 Oracles at Home in John’s Gospel — 186
 - 7.2.4 Displaced Oracles: A Tense Hermeneutic — 190
 - 7.2.5 Synthesizing Oracles and Scripture — 191
 - 7.3 Finding Meaning in the Text: An Enhanced Picture of Use — 193
 - 7.4 Practitioners and Patrons: Picturing the Users of a Divining Gospel — 197
 - 7.5 Interpretive Tools of Pastoral Care — 200

- 8 The Demise of the Divining Gospel — 203
 - 8.1 Oracles Overwritten — 203
 - 8.2 Forbidden Oracles, New Editions: The Demise of the Divining Gospel — 204
 - 8.3 Relics of a Distinct Hermeneutic — 208

Bibliography — 211

Appendix: Syriac Words in the Puṣṣāqē — 217

Indices

- Index of Manuscripts — 223
- Index of Biblical Citations — 224
- Index of Ancient Authors — 227
- Index of General Subjects and Selected Modern Authors — 228