

Contents

Acknowledgements	VII
Abbreviations, etc.	IX
Introduction	XI
I. The Nature of the Work in Front of You	XI
II. The 'Structural Development' of Heidegger's Thought	XXVII
III. Regarding the Philological and Hermeneutic Nature of Phenomenological Analysis	XXX
IV. Nature, Practice, and the Destruction of Metaphysics	XXXV
Early Hope for a Practical Alternative (xxxv) – Anarchy and the Western Front (xxxix) – The Question of Nature (xlviii)

PART I
Technic and Nature

1. Metaphysics as Construct and Autonomy	3
1.1 The Technological Constant in Metaphysics	5
1.2 Physis contra Technē (kata ton logon)	14
1.3 Metaphysical Structure and its Double	37
Impossible Union: Physis and Logos (38) – An Instrumental Split (43) – Producing the Double (48) – Violent Appropriations (60) – Days at the Undying Academy (67)
1.4 Antecedence and Construction	76
Technical (Epi)Genesis (80) – 'Formal' Self-Sufficiency (86) – Some Remarks (91)
2. Das Ge-stell as 'Technical Nature' and (as) Metaphysics	95
2.1 History and Revelatory Modalities	99
2.2 The End/s of Possibility	104
Consummate Recursion (105) – The Open Already (111) – Possibility or Probability? (118) – Knowing What is Known (125)
2.3 Configurations and Simulations	128
Configuring and Structural Absence (128) – Simulation and 'Freedom' (134) – Philosophy and Thinking (138) – Some Remarks (153)

Appendix 1: Hin und Her 155

PART II

Nature and Topology

3. “Topology”: Toward a ‘Non-Metaphysical’ Thinking of Nature 161

3.1 Gnostic Questions of the Limit (Introduction) 161

3.2 Prolegomatics for Topos 169

How Many Beginnings? (Preliminaries) (170) – Aristotle’s Boat (Hölderlin’s Eyes) (177) – Thing:Language (184) – Locale:Limit (188) – A Topological Formula? (190) – The ‘Law’ of Nature? (194) – The Makings of the Matrix (199) – Topos as World Filter (205)

3.3 Interlude: Heidegger on Difference as the Immanence of the Limit 212

3.4 Prolegomatics for (Topological?) Orientation (Practice?) 235

Poetic Measure I (238) – Proximity and Knowing (241) – Topos as Four Dimensional Time (244) – In Death, the Astral Human (253) – Poetic Measure II (257) – A Place Only for the Foreign (264)

Appendix 2 273

Bibliography 275

Index 281