

Contents

Acknowledgements — V

Introduction — 1

Writing on Games and Art — 5

Video Games: Play versus Narrative — 7

What Art is (Not)? — 9

Communication-Oriented Analysis: The Entanglement of Player and Character — 12

Some Remarks on Other Terminology — 16

Bibliography — 16

1 Artists and Developers: The Utilitarian-Inspirational Domain — 20

Game Art — 28

Art Games — 31

Game Art Revised — 34

Bibliography — 40

2 Curators and Visitors: The Practical-Consensual Domain — 44

To the Museums — 47

Exhibiting Interactive Performances — 51

Preserving Video Gaming — 57

Bibliography — 59

3 Legislators and Politicians: The Juridical-Political Domain — 62

Forbidden Games — 64

Degenerate Video Games — 70

Bibliography — 73

4 Thinkers and Doubters: The Theoretical-Conceptual Domain — 76

Artist Theory Versus Intentional Fallacy — 77

Interactivity and Player Agency versus Narrativity — 79

Conveying Existential Notions — 82

More Ludus than Narratio — 84

Commercialism or L'art pour l'art — 90

Children's Toys and Moral Panic — 93

Bibliography — 96

Conclusions — 100

Communicating Games — 100

(Dis)qualifying Art — 103

(Re)defining Art — 105

(Re)playing Art — 106

Bibliography — 108

Index of Video Games — 111

Index of Authors — 113