

Contents

1 Introduction: Pedagogical Documentation in Early Childhood Education Centres	1
2 Reasons for Documentation in Early Childhood Education Centres	5
2.1 Documentation in Different Early Childhood Approaches	5
2.1.1 Montessori Education	6
2.1.2 Waldorf Approach	8
2.1.3 Situation Approach	9
2.1.4 Reggio Approach	10
2.1.5 Documentation in Early Childhood Approaches as Written Observation	13
2.2 Documentation in the Context of a Social Constructivist Understanding of Education	13
2.3 Documentation in the Curricula of the German Federal States	15
2.3.1 Goals of Documentation in the Curricula	16
2.3.2 View of the Curriculums on the Role of Children in Documentation	18
2.3.3 Implementation variants in the curriculum: Forms of documentation	19
2.3.4 Understanding of Observation and Documentation in the Curricula of the German Federal States	20
2.4 What is Documentation—Approaching a Container Concept	20
2.4.1 Functions of Documentation	21
2.4.2 Recipients of Documentation	25
2.4.3 Diagnostic vs. process-oriented documentation	27

3 Pedagogical Documentation: Forms and Styles in Pedagogical Practice	31
3.1 Portfolio	32
3.1.1 Portfolio: An Open Concept of Pedagogical Documentation	32
3.1.2 Implementation in Germany	34
3.2 Learning Stories	52
3.2.1 The Concept of Learning Stories: Origin and Further Development	52
3.2.2 Implementation of Learning Stories in Germany	57
3.3 Pedagogical Documentation in Space	70
3.3.1 Children's Works and Wall Documentation—From the Wall to the Room	71
3.3.2 Pedagogical Documentation in Space as a Result of and Influencing Factor for Educational Processes	71
3.3.3 Implementation of Pedagogical Documentation in Space	75
3.4 Project Documentation	91
3.4.1 Background: Group-Related, Versatile Pedagogical Documentation	91
3.4.2 Implementation	93
3.5 Digital Pedagogical Documentation	95
3.5.1 Pedagogical Documentation in the Process of Mediatization	97
3.5.2 Implementation of Digital Pedagogical Documentation	101
3.5.3 Digital Pedagogical Documentation—The Super Documentation?	111
3.6 Styles of Documentation: Understanding and Implementation of Pedagogical Documentation at the Level of Individual ECE Centre	113
3.6.1 Typologization of ECE Centers with Regard to Their Documentation Practice	114
3.6.2 Four Different Styles of Documentation	116
3.6.3 Styles of Documentation as Programmatic Action Practices	123
4 Conclusion	125
References	129