

Contents

Acknowledgments — VII

List of Figures — XIII

List of Contributors — XVII

Introduction: Setting up the Terms

Rinaldo F. Canalis, Massimo Ciavolella and Valeria Finucci

Rethinking Medical Humanities — 3

Philosophy and Ethical Queries

Donald Beecher

Pondering the Perimeters: Towards a Definition of Medical Humanism — 17

Mariacarla Gadebusch Bondio

Avoidable Mistakes – Premodern Medical Fallibility as an Ethical Problem with Epistemological Implications — 35

Jennifer Kosmin

When the Fetus Becomes a Child: Some Reflections from the Long Eighteenth Century — 51

Manuela Gallerani

Ethical Responsibilities in the Curing/Caring Relationship — 71

Haling or Hale: The Body in the Arts and Literature

Stephen C. Meredith

Disease and the Problem of Evil in the Novels of Thomas Mann — 97

Pablo Maurette

Monstrosity and the Monstrous Revisited: Fortunio Liceti's Medical Imagination — 137

Roberta Ballestriero

The Flesh of Wax: The Use of Scientific Collection in Medical Humanities — 157

Ariella Minden and Paolo Savoia

The Body between Life and Death: Berengario da Carpi and the Anatomical Image of the Sixteenth Century — 173

Jorge A. Lazareff

The Anatomy Lesson of Dr. Jan Deijman and the Social History of the Brain — 205

Secrets of the Dead

Valeria Finucci

The Bio-Turn in History Writing: Death, Last Wishes, and Lasting Wishes — 213

Rinaldo F. Canalis

The Fatal Disease of the Last Reigning Inca: A Historical and Clinical Study — 227

Francesco Maria Galassi, Giovanni Spani and Elena Varotto

Paleopathology and Anthropology of the Renaissance: From the Morbus Dominorum to the Alleged 'Michelangelo's Shoes' — 253

Reason, Affects and Madness

Remo Bodei[†]

The New World Opened by Madness — 263

Sowon S. Park

Why Listen to the Mad? What Schizophrenic Girl Offers to Narrative Medicine — 277

Massimo Ciavolella

The Malady of Love in Early Modern Medical Thought — 293

The Humanities in Medical Education

Eduardo H. Rubinstein

Art Images And Medical Teaching — 311

Francis C. Wells

Medical Humanities: A Tautology or a Necessity? — 323

Romy Sutherland

Teaching PTSD with Film: The Case of Peter Weir's Fearless — 333

Jorge A. Lazareff

The Humanities and Global Health: Travels with Philippa Foot and Karl Popper — 349

Postface

Alain Touwaide

Medical Humanities as a Search for Unity — 365

Cumulative Bibliography — 373

Index of Names — 413