

Contents

Summary	5
1 Introduction	6
2 Definitions of competence in vocational education and training	8
2.1 Cognitive approaches to competence	8
2.2 Performance-oriented definitional approaches	9
2.3 Conclusion and methodological implications	10
3 Inclusion criteria of the present review	12
4 Results	13
4.1 Summary of the literature search	13
4.1.1 Selection of publications	13
4.1.2 Types of publications and publication dates	14
4.1.3 Occupational areas and occupations	15
4.1.4 Interim conclusion	16
4.2 Competencies	16
4.2.1 Competencies considered in the literature	16
4.2.2 Operationalisations	17
4.2.3 Interim conclusion on the competencies considered	18
4.3 Measurement instruments	18
4.3.1 Classification and frequency of assessment methods	18
4.3.2 Test theories	19
4.3.3 Interim conclusion	19
4.4 Quality criteria	20
4.4.1 Objectivity	20
4.4.2 Validity	20
4.4.3 Reliability	23
4.4.4 Interim conclusion on the quality criteria of the instruments	24
5 Overall conclusion and discussion	25
5.1 Status quo of competence assessment in vocational education and training	25
5.2 Conclusions for a possible large-scale transfer	25
5.2.1 Quality of the instruments	26
5.2.2 Test economy	26

5.3	Limitations and implications for further research	28
5.4	Recommendations	28
	Literature	29
	Annexes	38
	Annex 1: Selection and evaluation criteria	38
	Annex 2: Search terms used and results per database including date of access	39
	Annex 3: Overall summary of the competencies considered	40
	Annex 4: Overall summary of all studies included	41