

Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	Cultures of Designing Existence and Their Ecology	4
1.2	Divergent Semantics	11
1.3	How We Are Housed and Governed	14
2	The Space of Action and the Order of the House, the State and the World	17
2.1	The Household	20
2.2	Statehood	27
2.3	World Order	36
3	The Acting Human Being Between Home and World	47
3.1	Indoors and Outdoors	50
3.2	Intermediary Political Action	57
3.3	Cosmos in Ecological Format	61
3.4	Ritual Order	66
4	Jia and Guo: Internal Relations of Governance	73
4.1	East Asian Familialism	76
4.2	The Dimensions of Guo	85
4.3	The Granting of Freedoms	90
5	Statehood West and East	97
5.1	The Foundation of the Modern State in Europe	100
5.2	The East Asian Character of the "State Family"	104
5.3	The Modernization of the State System in East Asia	109
5.4	Governance in Transition: Decline and Renewal of Statehood	113

6	The Fabric of the Common	123
6.1	Being Bound and Being Unbound	124
6.2	Being Subject and Host.	129
6.3	Community Cohesion	133
7	Origin and Disappearance of Society	139
7.1	The Origin of Society	141
7.2	The Late Appearance of the Social	149
7.3	Society and Its State	156
7.4	The East Asian Reconstruction of "Society"	162
7.5	Civil Society in the State and Towards It	166
8	Responsibility for Welfare	175
8.1	Changing Welfare Regimes.	178
8.2	Cultures of Own Sustenance and Supply	182
8.3	Productive and Mixed Welfare	185
9	Towards Concordance "Under Heaven"	189
9.1	Global Liabilities.	190
9.2	The Concept of "Harmony" or the Quest for New Concordance ...	198
9.3	Shaping Existence Today and Tomorrow in House and State.	204
	References.	211