

Contents

1	Introduction	1
2	Our Town: The Sociology of Policing Communities	5
2.1	The Village Sheriff	5
2.2	Policing Worlds: The Sociology of Police and Policing	11
2.3	The Images of Policing	14
2.4	Cultural Narratives and Police Interaction	18
2.5	Negotiated Authority	23
2.5.1	The Institutional Authority of the Police	29
2.5.2	Situational and Personal Sources of Authority	32
2.6	Community Policing and Policing a Community	34
2.7	Violence and the Police	40
2.8	Whose Order? Police Culture and Policing Norms	42
2.8.1	Culture and Institution	44
2.8.2	Two Perspectives on Police Culture	45
2.8.3	Narratives in Police Culture	47
2.8.4	Stories and Local Knowledge	51
2.9	Showing up and Saying the Lines: Dramaturgy and Liminality	55
3	Setting the Stage: Setting, Method, and Perspective	61
3.1	Ride-Alongs: Accompanying People and Accompanying Roles	61
3.2	Symbolic Action, Narrative and Cultural Understanding	64
3.3	Participant Observation, Naturalistic Inquiry, and Intersubjective Meaning	68
3.3.1	Naturalistic Inquiry	71

3.4	Ethnography and Meaning	78
3.4.1	One of Us: Involvement, Marginality, and Access	85
3.5	Background: The Revierpolizei and the Community	88
3.5.1	Structure and Agency	88
3.5.2	Town and Country: Rural Regions of Brandenburg	96
3.5.3	Protocol: Field Research	104
3.5.4	Sources of Data	107
3.6	The Drama of Policing: Dramaturgy, Narrative, and Hermeneutics	110
3.6.1	In their Own Words: Role and Identity	114
3.6.2	Private Lives and Public Police	126
4	Framing Police Encounters: The Dramaturgy of Authority	133
4.1	Negotiating Authority, Defining Order: Dramaturgy and Institutional Police Roles	133
4.2	Police Work and Officer Discretion	136
4.2.1	Beyond Discretion	140
4.3	Symbolism and Police Encounters	144
4.4	On the Scene: Police Presence and Negotiated Order	151
4.5	Three Sources of Police Authority	155
4.6	Establishing and Maintaining Authority	166
4.6.1	Form of Interaction	171
4.6.2	Spatial Ordering	172
4.6.3	Indicators of Control	174
4.6.4	Dramatization of Power-Dynamics	175
4.6.5	Police Role Integrity	176
4.6.6	Attribution of Roles	179
4.6.7	Interactional Goal	181
4.7	Managing Authority in Community Contexts	184
4.8	Managing Situations: Prevention	192
4.9	Policing Public Events	196
4.9.1	The Big Game	197
4.9.2	Spatial Ordering, Indicators of Control, and Civil Inattention	200
4.9.3	Defining Participation	202
4.10	Public Space, Community Space and Ordered Space	205
4.11	Dramas of Authority and Control	212

5	Violence and the Police	217
5.1	Violent Acts and Violent Symbols: Constructivist Concerns	222
5.2	How Violence Defines Policing	225
5.3	Doing Violence: Coercive Force as the Core Police Function	227
5.4	The Symbolism of Violence	230
5.4.1	Violence as a Symbol	233
5.4.2	Symbols of Violence	237
5.4.3	The Gun and the Symbolism of Police Training	240
5.4.4	“I Don’t Want to Hurt Anybody”: Police and Symbolic Violence in Rural Communities	242
5.4.5	The Gun as a Representation of Policing?	244
5.4.6	Imagining Violence: Firearms	245
5.4.7	Immediate and Representative Symbols of Violence: From Symbolic Potential to Intention	246
5.4.8	Contextualizing Violence	248
5.4.9	Transforming Symbols	251
5.5	Narratives of Violence	253
5.5.1	Deterministic and Attributed Violence	256
5.5.2	Violent Situations and Violent Individuals	257
5.5.3	Perspective in Narratives of Violence	262
5.5.4	Community-Oriented Policing and Violence	265
6	Community Tales: Storytelling, Experience, and Local Knowledge	269
6.1	Narrative and Storytelling as Action	269
6.2	Values and Cultural Narrative	273
6.3	Time and Narrative Action	288
6.3.1	Breaking from the Norm and the Tellability of Narratives	293
6.4	Vocabularies of Motive	296
6.5	Storytelling in Police Culture	300
6.5.1	War Stories	303
6.5.2	Horror Stories	306
6.6	Police Culture and Policing Narratives	308
6.6.1	Teaching through Narrative	310
6.6.2	Linked and Linking Narratives	312
6.6.3	Linking Narratives: Skills and Knowledge	315
6.6.4	Linked Narratives: Knowledge and Skills	319

6.7	Serious Jokes: Humor and Institutional Frames	320
6.8	Policing Cultures or Cultures within Policing?	326
7	The Police and Community Maintenance	333
7.1	Knowing the Police / Knowing the Community	333
7.2	Constructing the Community	340
7.3	Community Partnerships	349
7.4	Liminality and the Spirit of Control	359
7.4.1	The Police Officer's Two Bodies	363
7.5	Ascribing Motives and Creating Actors	367
7.5.1	Communities of Actors and the Community as Actor	368
7.6	Keeping the Community Alive	374
7.7	Moving Images / Moving Targets: Ethnography and Community Policing	378
8	Postscript: Retrospective Auto-ethnography	381
	Work Cited	391