

Contents

Acknowledgements – 9

Foreword – 11

Introduction – 14

I. The debate about museums in 19th century Europe – 17

Museums—“temples” or “functional buildings”? – 18

The style of “nature” museums – 20

Place and function of “nature” museums – 29

Basic requirements of a museum building – 34

II. The history of the planning and construction – 43

Early plans for the construction of museums in Vienna – 44

The Vienna Ringstrasse – 45

The first competition – 47

The second competition – 54

Semper's appointment – 58

The collaboration between Semper and Hasenauer – 74

Ferdinand von Hochstetter – 78

III. The Natural History Museum and its final form – 81

Facade – 83

Building materials – 83

Structure – 85

Décor program – 86

Choice of artists – 109

Concept for the collections – 109

The history of nature and Darwin's theory of evolution – 110

Hochstetter's new organization of the collections – 113

Interior décor –	128
Semper's idea of a "Gesamtkunstwerk" –	128
Appropriate decorations of the showrooms –	129
The interior decoration –	130
The central area –	134
The exhibition area –	158
Concluding remarks –	185

Appendix – 187

The paintings and caryatides –	188
Grotesque painting –	230
Selected biographies –	236
Directors of the Natural History Museum –	243
Excursus: Technical aspects of the building –	245
Endnotes –	249