

Contents

I Recognizing and Understanding Stress

1	Stress: What Is It Actually? An Introduction	3
1.1	The Stresstrias	5
1.2	Stressors: What Stresses Us Out	8
1.3	Stress Response: Responses at All Levels	10
1.4	Personal Stress Amplifiers: Home-Made Stress	12
1.5	Stress Competence: From Victim to Actor	14
2	Physical Stress Reactions and the Consequences for Health	17
2.1	The Body's Response to Stress: The General Adaptation Syndrome	18
2.2	The Meaning of Physical Stress Response: Preparation for Fight or Flight	21
2.3	Stress Originates in the Brain	22
2.4	If Stress Reactions Precede Thought...	24
2.5	The Two Axes of Stress Response: Dry and Wet Communication Channels	26
2.6	Stress Shapes the Brain	29
2.7	Stress Reactions Are Individual	31
2.8	The Shaping of the Stress Response Through Early Experiences	32
2.9	Does Stress Make You Ill? How Stress Endangers Health	33
2.10	Total Exhaustion: The Burnout Syndrome	40
2.11	Checklist: Warning Signs for Stress	42
3	What Stresses Us: Stressors in Work and Everyday Life	45
3.1	Requirements Promote Development	46
3.2	In the Foreground Today: Performance and Relationship Stress	47
3.3	Societal Roots: Looking Beyond the Horizon	50
3.4	Stress at Work: The New Work Creates New Demands	52
3.5	Resource or Burden: The Two Faces of Work	53
3.6	Stress in the Family: The Support Givers Become Weaker	58
3.7	Stress in Leisure Time: How Recovery Fails	60
3.8	Stress due to Uncertainty: The Pleasure and Burden of Choice	61
3.9	Severe Life Stress: Does Misfortune Make You Ill?	62
3.10	Checklist: Personal Stress Hierarchy	64
4	Personal Stress Amplifiers: How We Put Ourselves Under Stress	67
4.1	Stress is the Result of Personal Evaluations	68
4.2	Stress Aggravating Thought Patterns	71
4.3	Five Stress Amplifiers and What Is Behind Them	74
4.4	Perfectionist Control Ambitions	77
4.5	Addiction to Work	78
4.6	Checklist: Personal Stress Amplifiers	80

II Coping with Stress

5	What Can We Do? The Three Pillars of Stress Competence at a Glance	85
5.1	Instrumental Stress Management: Making Everyday Life Less Stressful	88
5.2	Mental Stress Management: Developing Supportive Attitudes and Evaluations	89
5.3	Regenerative Stress Management: Relax and Recover	90
5.4	Flexibility as a Goal: Finding Your Own Way	91
6	Actively Meeting Demands: Instrumental Stress Competence	95
6.1	Learning: A Lifelong Task	98
6.2	Maintaining Networks: Social Relationships as a Stress Buffer	100
6.3	Self-assertion: Representing One's Own Interests Appropriately	106
6.4	Self-management: Managing Yourself	109
7	Develop Beneficial Thoughts and Attitudes: Mental Stress Competence	123
7.1	Accepting Reality: Simple and Yet So Difficult	126
7.2	Challenge Instead of Threat: Evaluating Requirements Constructively	129
7.3	Self-efficacy: The Conviction of One's Own Competence	135
7.4	Defusing Personal Stress Amplifiers: The Development Square	138
8	Creating Balance: Regenerative Stress Competence	147
8.1	Actively Shaping Recreation	148
8.2	Enjoyment in Everyday Life	159
8.3	Relax and Let Go	167
8.4	Doing Sport and Getting More Exercise in Everyday Life	178
9	For Acute Cases: The 4-Step-Strategy	187
9.1	Accept	189
9.2	Cooling Down	190
9.3	Analyse	190
9.4	Action or Distraction	191
10	Finding Your Own Way	193
10.1	The 3 × 4 of Stress Competence	194
10.2	A Word in Conclusion	197
	Supplementary Information
	Literature	200
	Index	203