

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction.	1
1. The Aristotelian Frame
1.1 There Are Accidents	3
1.2 What About Substances?	14
1.3 The Superiority of the Aristotelian Conceptual Scheme	21
2. Relations in the Aristotelian Frame
2.1 There Are Particular Relations	27
2.2 A Relation is a Condition of a Substance	36
3. Relations and the Things Related
3.1 Open Questions.	44
3.2 There Are Genuine Transcendental Relations	45
3.3 Puzzles About Accidental Relations	50
3.4 The Paradox of Intrinsically Triggered Relations	54
4. Struggling with the Paradox
4.1 Biting the Bullet, or the Anti-Reductionist Approach: Scotism	57
4.2 The Problems of Scotism	63
4.3 A Non-Starter: Thomistic Semi-Reductionism.	66
4.4 Suárezian Reductionism, or the Magic of Connotation	77
4.5 Radical Reductionism — Back to Frege?	84

5. Finding the Way Out

5.1 A Logical Analysis90

5.2 The Forgetfulness About the Terminus.....92

5.3 The Solution95

5.4 A Summary97

Conclusion99

Bibliography 103

Index of Persons..... 109