

Table of Contents

List of Contributors	7
----------------------------	---

ÓSCAR FERREIRO-VÁZQUEZ, ANA CORREIA AND SÍLVIA ARAÚJO Technology to the service of language learning, translation and interpreting	9
--	---

PAULA FONSECA AND MARIA DE LURDES MARTINS Google Arts & Culture curated virtual exhibitions by English for tourism undergraduate students	13
--	----

YOLANDA JOY CALVO BENZIES The creation of podcasts to enhance the development of speaking and specific vocabulary in authentic contexts: A case study on the use of Anchor with ESP tourism students	29
---	----

MARIA VICTORIA GUADAMILLAS GÓMEZ Teaching L2 pronunciation in OneNote: Exploring students' performance and views	55
---	----

CARLOS LINDADE Promoting remedial pronunciation instruction through social media	67
--	----

OLGA TORRES-HOSTENCH Integrating machine translation literacy skills in language learning	79
---	----

TERESA PATACO Translating against the norm: Why is translation into L2 still frowned upon?	93
---	----

SÍLVIA ARAÚJO AND MICAELA AGUIAR DIY resources for specialised translation: A three-step multimodal methodology	109
--	-----

ANA ELINA MARTÍNEZ-INSUA Does technology aid engagement? Pandemics and the design of EFL courses for future translators/interpreters	121
---	-----

ANNA ZINGARO

Forliviamo: How to incidentally learn Italian through a context-aware mobile application 143

PEDRO IVORRA ORDINES

Spanish comparative constructional idioms and their English and French counterparts. A corpus-based study 157

PREDRAG OREŠKI, VLADIMIR LEGAC AND KRUNOSLAV MIKULAN

Relationship between students' interest in foreign language learning and their achievement in learning a foreign language with a mobile learning application 181

MILAGROS TORRADO CESPÓN AND SIDONÍ LÓPEZ PÉREZ

Are you aware of your errors when writing online? Pre-service EFL primary school teachers' English proficiency tested 197

CLAUDIO FANTINUOLI AND MADDALENA MONTECCHIO

Defining maximum acceptable latency of ASR-based computer-assisted interpreting tools 213

ELOY RODRÍGUEZ GONZÁLEZ, MUHAMMAD AHMED SAEED,

TOMASZ KORYBSKI, ELENA DAVITTI AND SABINE BRAUN

Reimagining the remote simultaneous interpreting interface to improve support for interpreters 227

ALESSANDRO GREGORI

Automatic Speech Recognition (ASR) for accessibility at international conferences 247

ELENA RUIZ-CORTÉS

Using human translators' skills to bridge the digital communication divide between migrants and public services through an accessibility assessment: Outsmarting machines 265