

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of contributors	viii
Acknowledgements	xiii

1	Introduction: Contextualizing German-Jewish history Stefan Vogt	1
---	--	---

Part I The precolonial era

2	Antisemitism and colonial racisms: Genealogical perspectives Claudia Bruns	25
3	Sugar island Jews? Jewish colonialism and the rhetoric of 'civic improvement' in eighteenth-century Germany Jonathan M. Hess	56
4	Racism, antisemitism and achievement: Christoph Meiners and his theory of the nonequivalence of human beings Felix Axster	70
5	Boundary as barrier, boundary as bridge: Jewish and Christian historiography on religious origins in nineteenth-century Germany Susannah Heschel	89

Part II The colonial era

6	The role of antisemitism in German colonial racism Ulrike Hamann	113
7	From colonialism to antisemitism and back: Ideological developments in the Alldeutsche Verband under the Kaiserreich Stefan Vogt	134
8	'Our Dernburg' – 'The New Moses': The German Empire's 'Jewish' colonial director and the satirical press Axel Stähler	156
9	A paradigm for repatriation projects: The African-American and the Zionist examples and their interrelationship Mark H. Gelber	185

Part III The postcolonial era

10	The predicaments of non-nationalist nationalism: The case of Hans Kohn, Robert Weltsch and Hannah Arendt Christian Wiese	209
11	Colonial revisionism and the Emin Pasha legend in Weimar and Nazi Germany Christian S. Davis	232
12	Trauma, privilege and adventure in transit: Jewish refugees in Iran and India Atina Grossmann	253
	Bibliography	281
	Index of names	302