

Table of Contents

Part I – Conflicts between Environmental Agreements.....	1
-----------------------------------------------------------------	----------

A. Conflicts and the Need for Harmonization in International Environmental Law: an Introduction.....	1
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----------

I. The Development and Significance of Conflicts in International Environmental Law.....	1
II. Ecological Interdependencies: One Reason for Conflicts in International Environmental Law.....	4
III. Different Kinds of Conflicts: an Approach to Categorization.....	6
1. Conceptual Conflicts between Different Approaches or Programs.....	7
2. Conflicting Objectives.....	8
3. Conflicting Obligations.....	10
4. Conflicts in the Implementation Phase.....	11
5. Political Conflicts.....	11
6. Conclusions Concerning the Categorization of Conflicts	12

B. The Law of the Sea and International Environmental Law	13
------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------

I. Introduction.....	13
II. Conflicts between the Convention on the Law of the Sea and the Convention on Biological Diversity.....	15
1. The Scope and Application of the Convention on Biological Diversity in Regard to the Marine Environment.....	16
2. The Conservation and Management of Living Resources.....	19
(a) Criteria for the Exploitation of Living Resources.....	19
(b) The Establishment of Protected Areas	22
3. Marine Genetic Resources: Different Concepts of Access and Conservation	24

4. Conclusions.....	30
III. The Regime Governing Polar Regions in Relation to the Law of the Sea.....	31
1. Introduction	31
2. The Convention on the Law of the Sea and Polar Regions	34
(a) Application of the Provisions on Enclosed and Semi-enclosed Seas	34
(b) Part XII UNCLOS and its Application to Polar Regions.....	35
(c) Article 194 UNCLOS and the Protection of the Polar Marine Environment.....	37
(d) Article 197 UNCLOS and Cooperation on a Regional Basis.....	39
(e) Article 234 UNCLOS: Provisions on Ice-covered Areas.....	39
(f) Conclusion.....	40
3. Universal Environmental Protection Instruments and the Polar Marine Environment.....	40
(a) Introduction.....	40
(b) Pollution from Ships and Installations	40
aa) The Applicability of MARPOL 73/78 Provisions to Polar Regions	41
bb) The Law of the Sea and the Environmental Regime for Antarctica: a Comparison	44
(c) Dumping.....	48
aa) The Regulations of the London Convention on the Prevention of Marine Pollution by Dumping of Wastes and Other Matters.....	48
bb) The Provisions on Dumping under the Environmental Protocol to the Antarctic Treaty and the Law of the Sea	50
(d) Pollution from Land-based Sources	51
(e) Intervention and Other Matters.....	54
(f) Protection and Conservation of Fauna and Flora	55
(g) Exploration and Exploitation of Marine Living Resources in Antarctica and under the Convention on the Law of the Sea	56
aa) Fishing.....	56
bb) Whaling	58

C. International Agreements Concerning Global Environmental Problems	62
I. Introduction.....	62
II. The Relation between Agreements Concerning Nature Conservation and Biological Diversity.....	63
1. Introduction: the CBD and Nature Conservation Agreements.....	64
2. Categories of Agreements Concerned with Nature Conservation and the Development of International Nature Conservation Law.....	66
(a) The Protection of Species	67
(b) The Issue of Genetic Resources	69
(c) The Protection of Habitats and Ecosystems	69
(d) The Next Stage	70
3. The Scope of the Convention on Biological Diversity in Contrast to Other Agreements Concerned with Nature Conservation	72
4. Conflicts or a Chance for Cooperative Supplementation?.....	74
5. Conclusions: an Approach to Mutual Reinforcement	77
III. Conflicts between the Convention on Biological Diversity, the Kyoto Protocol and the Convention to Combat Desertification	78
1. Conflicts between the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Kyoto Protocol to the Framework Convention on Climate Change.....	79
(a) Introduction: Links and Potential Conflicts.....	79
(b) Sinks and Flexible Mechanisms under the Kyoto Protocol.....	82
(c) The Creation of Sinks and Potential Adverse Effects on Biological Diversity	87
(d) Conclusions Concerning the Relation between the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Kyoto Protocol.....	91
2. The Convention to Combat Desertification and the Convention on Biological Diversity	93
(a) Introduction: Desertification and Links to Other Agreements	93
(b) Potential Conflicts between the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Convention to Combat Desertification	96
aa) Conflicting Approaches.....	96

bb) Conflicts Arising out of Implementation	98
3. Conclusions	98
IV. Conflicts Related to the Regime on Transport and Disposal of Wastes	99
1. Introduction	99
2. The Basel Convention and the Bamako Convention	100
3. The Basel Convention and the Bamako Convention and Their Relationship with International Instruments Concerning Land-based Pollution and Dumping	104
4. Conclusions	109
V. Disposal of Disused Offshore Installations	110
1. Introduction	110
2. The Approach Taken by the IMO, under OSPAR and under the London Convention	110
3. Conclusions	112
VI. The Recycling of Ships	112
1. Introduction	112
2. Does the Basel Convention Cover the Recycling of Ships?	113
(a) The Consideration of Vessels as Wastes	115
(b) The Responsibilities of the State of Export	116
3. Conclusions	117

Part II – Approaches to the Coordination of International Environmental Agreements..... 119

A. Introduction to the Coordination of International Agreements..... 119

B. Conflict Clauses in International Environmental Agreements..... 120

I. The Purpose of Conflict Clauses: an Introduction	120
II. The Formulation of Conflict Clauses in Environmental Agreements	122
1. Clauses that Provide for the Preference of Existing Treaties	123
(a) Differences Concerning the Scope of Clauses	123
(b) When Does an Instrument Exist?	126
2. Clauses that Provide for an Agreement's Priority over Existing and Future Agreements	127

III. Conclusions	128
------------------------	-----

C. The Law of Treaties and its Capacity to Solve Conflicts..... 129

I. Some Aspects Concerning the Law of Treaties:
an Introduction.....	129
1. The Function of the Law of Treaties	129
2. The Distinction between Law-making and Contractual
Treaties and its Relevance.....	131
II. Treaty Interpretation as a Means of Harmonization	133
1. The Basic Rules on the Interpretation of Treaties	134
(a) The Ordinary Meaning Rule of Interpretation.....	135
(b) The Object and Purpose of a Treaty	135
2. Article 31, para. 2 VCLT: the Context.....	138
3. The Provisions of Article 31, para. 3 VCLT	139
(a) Subsequent Agreements and “Authentic”
Interpretation.....	140
(b) State Practice.....	143
(c) Rules of International Law.....	144
4. Conclusion	146
III. The Regulation of Conflicts by the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties	147
1. Introduction	147
2. The Scope of Article 30 VCLT.....	148
IV. Article 60 VCLT	151
V. Lex posterior and lex specialis.....	152
1. Lex posterior as a General Rule of International Law.....	153
2. Lex specialis as a General Rule of International Law	155
VI. Conclusions	158

D. Cooperation and International Environmental Governance..... 159

I. Issues of Governance and Cooperation.....	159
1. Reasons for Cooperation in International
Environmental Law	159
2. Forms of Cooperation and Their Relevance.....	161
3. Institutional Cooperation and Loss of State
Sovereignty.....	163
II. The Institutional Structure of International Environmental
Agreements	164
1. Modern Treaties and International Organizations.....	164

2. Treaty Organs and Their Functions	165
(a) The Conference of the Parties	166
(b) The Secretariat	168
(c) Scientific and Technical Subsidiary Organs	169
III. Means of Cooperation between Agreements	170
1. Introduction	170
2. The Exchange of Information between Treaty Organs	171
3. Memoranda of Understanding or Cooperation	173
4. Partnerships and Joint Activities of Treaties	174
IV. Cooperation by International Organizations	175
1. A Coordinating Function of International Organizations	175
2. The Role of the United Nations	176
(a) Decisions of the UN General Assembly Regarding the Coordination of International Environmental Law	177
(b) Other UN Institutions Dealing with Environmental Matters	179
V. The Role of UNEP with Respect to the Coordination of International Environmental Agreements	181
1. The UNEP's Potential Mandate to Coordinate Agreements	181
2. UNEP's Activities Concerning the Coordination of Agreements	186
(a) The Coordination of the Secretariats	186
(b) UNEP's Activities Concerning International Environmental Governance	188
(c) The Coordination of Biodiversity-related Agreements by UNEP	190
(d) Conclusions	191
VI. The Role of the CSD in Regard to the Coordination of Treaties	192
1. The Mandate of the CSD	192
2. The Relationship between the CSD and UNEP	194
VII. Joint Financial Mechanisms as a Means of Coordination	194
1. The Role of the GEF	195
(a) Function and Organization of the GEF	196
(b) The Relationship between the GEF and Environmental Agreements	197
(c) The Coordination of Projects within the GEF	200
2. Conclusions	202
VIII. A Coordination of International Treaties by Non- governmental Organizations	204

1. Participation of NGOs in International Environmental Law	204
2. Obstacles Concerning the Role of NGOs and the Coordination of International Law	206
3. Consequences for the Cooperative Coordination of Treaties	208
E. Conclusions and Outlook	209