

Table of Contents

Preface	VII
1. INTRODUCTION
Transformations towards a Notion of Sympathetic Imagination	1
2. SYMPATHY RENDERED MORAL
Lord Shaftesbury and the Ancient Traditions of Sympathy	13
2.1 What Strikes a Sympathetic Chord: Reading the Stoics, Casaubon and Whichcote	17
2.2 Sympathy Reflected, or: How to become a Friend of Mankind	28
2.3 The Moral Effects of Fiction: Sympathetic Imagination avant la lettre	39
3. SYSTEMS OF SYMPATHY
The Rise of the Sympathetic Imagination in Scottish Empiricism	49
3.1 »What's Hecuba to us, or we to Hecuba?«: Sympathy in Francis Hutcheson's Empiricist Perspective	54
3.2 »Fictions of Sympathy«: David Hume on the Sympathetic Imagination of the Moral Triad	64
4. FROM ETHICS TO POETICS OF SYMPATHY
The Three Dimensions of the Sympathetic Imagination	81
4.1 Narrative and Theatrical Forms of Fellow-Feeling: Adam Smith on the Sympathies of Readers and Theatregoers	84
4.2 Imaginative Expansions of Sympathy in Ideal Presence: Lord Kames on Sympathetic Reading and Writing	98
5. NARRATING SYMPATHY & SYMPATHETIC NARRATION
Sympathetic Imagination in the Man-of-Feeling Novel	115
5.1 From Laughter to Tears: Oliver Goldsmith on the Propriety and Impropriety of Fellow-Feeling	118
5.2 From Fool to Friend: Henry Brooke and Henry Mackenzie on the Virtue of Sympathies	130
5.3 The »New« Man of Feeling: Laurence Sterne and William Godwin on Sympathetic Imaginations of the Poetic Mind	147

6. SYMPATHY LOST AND REGAINED
William Godwin's Perspective on the Man of Feeling	157
6.1 Sympathy under the Lens of Rationalism	159
6.2 Reasonable Fellow-Feeling: Godwin's ›Sentimentalism‹ Revisited	174
BIBLIOGRAPHY	193
INDEX OF NAMES	207
INDEX OF SUBJECTS	209