

TABLE OF CONTENTS

List of tables	7
List of figures	7
List of abbreviations	8
Acknowledgements	11
Preface: The social life of law in the Republic of Benin , by Thomas Bierschenk	13
1. Introduction	19
1.1. Theoretical inspirations	21
1.2. The research process	26
1.3. Access to research on the professional biographies of magistrates	33
1.4. The concept of 'generations' and the structure of the book	37
2. The emergence of a state judiciary in Dahomey (1894-1971)	41
2.1. Justice during the French colonial period (1894-1959)	42
2.2. The Africanisation of the judiciary and the public prosecution service (1960-1971)	58
3. The profession of magistrate during socialism and democracy (1972-2010)	69
3.1. Justice in the socialist regime. The state as provider and the de-professionalisation of the profession by lay judges (1972-1989)	69
3.2. The democratisation of the judiciary. Rule of law, corruption scandal and the civil service as second choice (1990-2003)	74
3.3. Internationalisation and upgrading of the judicial profession (2004-2010)	82
4. Who becomes a magistrate in Benin? About the social structure of the profession	91
4.1. Motivation, legal education and career choice	91
4.2. Origin and living conditions of the magistrates	96
4.3. Women as magistrates	100
4.4. Different career paths. Power, influence and hierarchy	104
5. Everyday working practices: Conditions and strategies	119
5.1. Institutional framework. Reforms and new laws	119
5.2. Working conditions, performance and adaptation strategies	125
5.3. Security concerns and threat scenarios of the magistrates	144

6. What makes a good magistrate? Judicial ethics and their implementation	155
6.1. Ideals of behaviour and role model function	155
6.2. Deviations from ideal behaviour	160
6.3. Contrasting external perceptions. Perspectives of litigants, politicians, journalists and lawyers	167
7. Orientation towards global norms: Strikes, protests and industrial action	179
7.1. Why are magistrates on strike? Background to the industrial action	179
7.2. Legal and moral standards of reference	185
7.3. Different forms of protest among the generations	188
7.4. Relevance of negotiating judicial independence	192
8. Conclusion	199
Works cited	207
Appendix	227