

Contents

Part I Understanding Sustainability

1 Sustainability and Society	3
1.1 Germany's National Sustainability Strategy	3
1.2 The Discussion on Climate Change	6
1.3 The Scarcity of Resources in the World	8
1.4 Institutions for Sustainable Development	9
1.4.1 The Brundtland Commission	9
1.4.2 The German Council for Sustainable Development	10
1.4.3 Global Compact	10
1.5 Education for a Sustainable Development	12
1.5.1 Principles for Responsible Management Education	12
1.5.2 Organizational Competencies for a More Sustainable Development	13
1.6 Digression: The Sustainable University	15
1.6.1 Two Perspectives on the Sustainable University	16
1.6.2 From Areas of Action to Selected Activities	18
1.6.3 From Activities to Objectives	20
1.7 Sustainability as Normative Metaphor for Global Justice	21
Further Reflection	23
References	24
2 Quo Vadis, Environmental Management?	27
2.1 The Development of Environmental Management Studies	27
2.1.1 Are Profit and Environmental Protection Goals Complementary?	29
2.1.2 Generating Profits Through Environmental Protection	30
2.2 A Critical Evaluation of Environmental Management Systems	31
2.2.1 The Logic of Management Systems	31
2.2.2 Pros and Cons of Management Systems	33

2.2.3 Incentives-Contributions-Equilibrium for Environmental Management Systems .....	34
2.2.4 The Blind Spot: Contradictory Decision-Making Processes .....	35
2.3 A Critical Evaluation of the Win-Win-Hypothesis .....	37
2.3.1 The Negative Image of Costs .....	37
2.3.2 Positive Effects of Increased Efficiency for the Firm .....	38
2.3.3 Negative Effects of Increased Efficiency for the Firm .....	38
2.4 Environmental Management Studies and the Efficiency Trap .....	39
Further Reflection .....	40
References .....	41
3 Quo Vadis, Social Responsibility? .....	43
3.1 Corporate Social Responsibility in Practice .....	43
3.2 Corporate Social Responsibility in Theory .....	44
3.2.1 The Pressure to Externalize Costs .....	45
3.2.2 The Semantics of Responsibility .....	46
3.3 The Responsibility Trap .....	47
Further Reflection .....	48
References .....	49
4 Sustainability as Economic Rationality .....	51
4.1 The Rationality of Sustainability: Historical Roots .....	51
4.2 Sustainable Forestry .....	53
4.3 Profit-Oriented vs. Housekeeping .....	54
4.4 Firms as Resource-Dependent Systems .....	54
4.5 Sustainability as Strategic Success with Regard to Resources .....	57
4.6 Sustainability as a Contribution Towards a More Comprehensive Theory of the Firm .....	59
Further Reflection .....	63
References .....	64

Part II Theoretical Impulses

5 A Theory of Management Ecology .....	69
5.1 Market Communities as Business Ecosystems .....	69
5.1.1 The Business Ecosystem Metaphor .....	70
5.1.2 What is a Successful Business Ecosystem Like? .....	70
5.1.3 New Perspectives on the Relationships Between Firms and Society? .....	71
5.2 Building Blocks for A New Theory of Management Ecology .....	71
5.2.1 The Systems-Theoretic Approach: Survival Through Openness .....	72

5.2.2 The Co-Evolutionary Approach: Surviving Through Community .....	76
5.2.3 Ecology: Surviving as a Household .....	82
5.3 The Household Approach: Surviving as a Resource Community .....	86
5.3.1 The Development from oikos to the Private Household .....	86
5.3.2 Housekeeping Theory in Business Sciences .....	88
5.3.3 Theoretical Significance of Household Economics .....	90
5.3.4 The Rationality of Housekeeping .....	91
5.3.5 The New Housekeeping-Oriented Building Block .....	94
5.4 Household Communities as the Objective of Management Ecology .....	95
Further Reflection .....	98
References .....	99
6 Dominant Management Rationalities and the Necessary Improvements for a More Sustainable Management .....	103
6.1 Change of Management Rationalities .....	103
6.2 Rationality and Its Dissidents .....	104
6.3 A Model of Management Rationalities .....	106
6.4 Improvement on the System Level .....	106
6.4.1 System Rationality I: Survival Through Attainment of Ends .....	106
6.4.2 Digression : Survival and Attainment of Ends: Two Different Rationalities? .....	107
6.4.3 System Rationality II: Survival Through Repercussion Control .....	113
6.4.4 Implication: Dualistic Definition of Success .....	115
6.5 Improvement on the Means-End Level .....	115
6.5.1 Means-End Rationality I: Profit Through Efficiency Increase .....	116
6.5.2 Means-End Rationality II: Stability Through Preservation of the Resource Base .....	117
6.5.3 Sustainability and Efficiency as Contradictory Means-End Rationalities .....	119
6.5.4 Efficiency and Sustainability in the Value Context .....	120
6.6 Enhancement on the Decision Level .....	124
6.6.1 Decision Rationality I: Cost-Benefit-Maximization (Utility Maximization) on a Short-Term Basis .....	124
6.6.2 Decision Rationality II: Non-Consequentialist Ties on A Long-Term Basis .....	126
6.7 Implications for the Change of Economic Behaviour .....	127
Further Reflection .....	128
References .....	129

7 Coping with Contradictions as Core Problem of Modern and Sustainability-Oriented Management Studies	131
7.1 Contradictions in Management Studies	131
7.2 Terminology of Contradictions	132
7.2.1 Contradiction in Philosophy	132
7.2.2 Contradiction-Related Thinking Contexts	134
7.2.3 Contradiction-Related Terms	135
7.2.4 The Nature of Contradictions	137
7.3 Logical Ways of Coping with Contradictions	139
7.3.1 Non-Coping Through Ignorance or Abstraction	139
7.3.2 Systematization of Logical Ways of Coping with Contradictions	140
7.3.3 The Pendulum	142
7.3.4 Hybrid and Segmenting	145
7.3.5 Tightrope-Walking and Balancing	147
7.4 Decision-Making, Trade-Offs and Contradictions	149
7.4.1 Trade-Offs: The Decision-Making Problem with Contradictions	150
7.4.2 Prescriptive Decision Theory and Trade-Offs	150
7.4.3 Descriptive Decision Theory and Trade-Offs	151
7.4.4 Ways of Coping with Trade-Offs	152
7.5 Implications for a Contradiction Management	153
7.6 Coping with Contradictions Through Tolerance of Ambivalence and Ambiguity	153
7.6.1 Leadership and Contradictions	154
7.6.2 Tolerance of Ambiguity	155
7.6.3 Tolerance of Ambivalence	156
7.6.4 Exemplary Linkage of Tolerance of Contradictions and Coping with Contradictions	157
Further Reflection	158
References	159

Part III Sustainable Resource Management

8 The Use of the Term “Resource” in Management Studies	165
8.1 Deficits of Strategic Management Studies	165
8.2 Different Resource Terms	166
8.2.1 Resource Definition of the Input-Transformation-Output Model	167
8.2.2 Resource Definition of the Resource-Based View	167
8.2.3 Resource Definition of the Means-End-Scheme	168
8.2.4 Against the Everyday-Perception of Resources?	169
8.3 Resource Relationships: Mutual or Dependent?	170
8.4 Autonomies of Sources	172

8.4.1 The Natural Environment as a Source .....	172
8.4.2 The Economy as a Source .....	173
8.4.3 The Society as a Source .....	173
8.5 An Overview of the Perception of Resources in Functional Business Areas .....	174
8.5.1 Environmental Management and Conservation of Natural Resources .....	174
8.5.2 Human Resource Management and the Sustainable Treatment of Resources .....	180
8.5.3 Marketing and the Sustainable Treatment of Resources ....	183
8.6 Management Studies on the Way Toward a Resource-Oriented Business Image .....	186
Further Reflection .....	188
References .....	189
 9 Salutogenesis as Heuristic for Resource-Oriented Management Studies .....	 191
9.1 Sustainability and Health .....	191
9.2 Health Management and Management Studies .....	192
9.3 Pathogenesis: The Traditional Thinking Model .....	193
9.4 Salutogenesis: The New Thinking Model .....	194
9.4.1 History of Origins .....	194
9.4.2 The Sense of Coherence as a Central Resource for Health .....	195
9.4.3 Health and the Resource Term .....	196
9.5 Insights for an Institutional Resource Management .....	198
9.5.1 From the Individual to the Institutional Resource Management .....	199
9.5.2 Approaches for an Institutional Resource Transaction Model .....	199
9.5.3 Moderating Role of Immaterial Resources .....	201
9.6 Contributions to a Sustainable Resource Management .....	201
Further Reflection .....	202
References .....	203
 10 Strategic Resource Management .....	 205
10.1 Sustainability and Strategic Management .....	205
10.2 From Market Strategies to Sustainable Management Strategies .....	207
10.2.1 Sustainable Resource Management in Human Resource Management .....	207
10.2.2 Sustainable Resource Management in Marketing .....	209
10.2.3 Sustainable Resource Management in Environmental Issues .....	209

10.3 Strategic Sustainability Vector ..... 211

10.4 Business Principles for Management Ecology ..... 213

10.5 Strategic Resource Controlling ..... 216

    10.5.1 SWOT Analysis for Management Ecology ..... 217

    10.5.2 Management of Resource Regimes ..... 219

10.6 Resource-Oriented Sustainability Monitoring ..... 224

Further Reflection ..... 233

References ..... 233

Index ..... 235