

Table of Contents

Participants	IX
Introduction	XV

Physiological Basis of Mineralocorticoid Hormone Action

Mineralocorticoid Receptors and Extrinsic Specificity-conferring Mechanisms (Z. Krozowski, G. Stephenson, S. Quirk, and J. Funder)	3
Intracellular Action of Mineralocorticoids: The Role of the Flavin Coenzymes and Riboflavin Analogs in Hypertension (D. Trachewsky)	10

Regulation of Mineralocorticoids

Novel Control Mechanisms of Aldosterone Secretion (C.R.W. Edwards, E.A.S. Al-Dujaili, and B.C. Williams)	29
The Diagnostic Value of Urinary Free 18-Hydroxycorticosterone in Primary Aldosteronism (S. Abdelhamid, P. Vecsei, N. Panitz, and H.L. Christl)	41
Acute and Chronic Regulation of Aldosterone Secretion in Man (W. Oelkers and M. Schöneschöfer)	51
Radioimmunologic Methods in Aldosterone Diagnosis (P. Vecsei, S. Abdelhamid, P. Bubel, D. Haack, S. Lewicka, K. Lichtwald, and G. v. Mittelstaedt)	62

Pathophysiological Aspects of Mineralocorticoid Excess

Mechanism for Escape from the Sodium-retaining Effects of Mineralocorticoids (F.G. Knox and J.C. Romero)	81
Mechanism of Mineralocorticoid-induced Hypertension (J. Mitchell and D.F. Bohr)	101
The Role of "Mineralocorticoids", "Glucocorticoids" and "Hypertensinogenic" Steroids in ACTH-induced Hypertension (B.A. Scoggins, A. Butkus, J.P. Coghlan, D.A. Denton, R.T. Mason, P.J. Meehan, E.H. Mills, M.A. Nelson, C.D. Spence, and J.A. Whitworth) . .	113
Mechanism of Mineralocorticoid-induced Hypertension in Man (T. Philipp, B. Lüth, G. Wucherer, and A. Distler)	129

Clinical Aspects of Mineralocorticoid-induced Hypertension

Primary Aldosteronism and Other Mineralocorticoid Excess Syndromes in Hypertension: Incidence, Screening, and Diagnosis (F. Skrabal, G. Finkenstedt, R. Gasser, G. Bartsch, and W. Zechmann). . .	143
Differentiation of Mineralocorticoid-induced Hypertension (D.C. Kem, R.D. Brown, R. Painton, C. Hanson, D. Lyons, M. Weinberger, J. Hollifield, M. Wisgerhof, and K. Tang)	155
Localization of the Adrenal Lesions in Primary Aldosteronism (M. Fischer, W. Vetter, M. Galanski, B. Winterberg, and H. Vetter).	167
Is Idiopathic Hyperaldosteronism a Variant of Essential Hypertension or of Conn's Syndrome? (A. Lasaridis, D.L. Davies, C. Beretta-Piccoli, J.J. Brown, R. Fraser, C. Holloway, M. Ingram, A.F. Lever, J.I.S. Robertson, and P.F. Semple) . .	178
Mineralocorticoids in Essential Hypertension (A. Helber, G. Wambach, W. Hummerich, and K.A. Meurer).	187

Antimineralocorticoids

Structure-Activity Relationship of Antimineralocorticoid Active Compounds (G. Wambach, J. Casals-Stenzel, and A. Helber)	199
---	-----

The Relative Potency of Competitive and Non-competitive Mineralocorticoid Antagonists in Man (L.E. Ramsay)	208
Spirolactone in Essential Hypertension: Effects on Kidney Function and Plasma Electrolytes in Relation to Salt Intake (H.B. Benraad, Th.J. Benraad, W.C.A.M. Buijs, and P.W.C. Kloppenborg) ..	216
Surgical Therapy of Primary Aldosteronism (J. Hauss, W. Vetter, M. Fischer, and H. Vetter)	224
Subject Index	235