Contents

1	Phen	omenic Reality and Models	1
	§1.1.	Statements	1
	§1.2.	An Example of a Model	1 3 5
	§1.3.	The Laws of Mechanics	5
	§1.4.	General Thoughts on Models	8
2	Quali	itative Aspects of the One-Dimensional Motion	10
	§2.1.	Energy Conservation	10
	§2.2.	General Existence, Uniqueness, and Regularity
		Properties of Motion. Uniqueness	11
	§2.3.	General Existence, Uniqueness, and Regularity
		Properties of Motion. Existence	18
	§2.4.	General Existence, Uniqueness, and Regularity
		Properties of Motion. Regularity	22
	§2.5.	Local and Global Solutions of Differential Equations	26
	§2.6.	More Generalities about Differential Equations.
		Autonomous Equations	32
	§2.7.	One-Dimensional Conservative Periodic and Aperiodic
		Motions	36
	§2.8.	Equilibrium: Stability in the Absence of Friction	40
	§2.9 .	Stability and Friction	43
	§2.10.	Period and Amplitude: Harmonic Oscillators	48
	§2.11.	The Damped Oscillator: Euler's Formulae	53
		Forced Harmonic Oscillations in the Presence of Friction	57
	§2.13.	Fourier's Series for C [∞] -Periodic Functions	61

xii Contents

	§2.14.	Nonlinear Oscillations. The Pendulum and Its Forced
		Oscillations. Existence of Small Oscillations	66
	§2.15.	Damped Pendulum. Small Forced Oscillations	71
	§2.16.	Small Damping. Resonances	75
		An Application. Construction of a Rigorously Periodic Oscillator in the Presence of Friction. The Anchor
		Escapement. Feedback Phenomena	79
	§2.18.	Compatibility Conditions in the Theory of the Anchor
		Escapement	84
	§2.19.	Encore about the Anchor Escapement. Stability of the Periodic Motion	88
	§2.20.	Frictionless Forced Oscillations. Quasi-periodic Motions	93
		Quasi-periodic Functions. Multiperiodic Functions. Tori
	-	and the Multidimensional Fourier Theorem	100
	§2.22.	Observables and Their Time Averages	108
	§2.23.	Time Averages on Sequences of Times Known up to
	•	Errors. Probability and Stochastic Phenomena	114
	§2.24.	Extremal Properties of Conservative Motion. Action
	-	and Variational Principle	127
_		Silver to the second
3		ms with Many Degrees of Freedom. Theory • Constraints. Analytical Mechanics	141
	0	o de la constanta de la consta	* * * *
	§3.1 .	Systems of Point Masses	141
	§3.2.	Work. Linear and Angular Momentum	144
		The Least Action Principle	151
	§3.4 .	Introduction to the Constrained Motion Theory	153
		Ideal Constraints as Mathematical Entities	157
		Real and Ideal Constraints	168
	§3.7.	Kinematics of the Quasi-constrained Systems.
		Reformulation of the Perfection Criteria for
		Approximate Conservative Constraints	177
	§3.8.	Perfection Criterion for Approximate Constraints	187
	§3.9.	Application to the Rigid Motion. König's Theorem	198
		General Considerations on the Theory of Constraints	208
	§3.11.	The Differential Equations of Hamilton and
		Lagrange. Analytical Mechanics	212
	§3.12.	Completely Canonical Transformations: Their Structure.	233
		Concluding Comments to Chapter 3	242
4	Spec	ial Mechanical Systems	245
	84 1	Systems of Linear Oscillators	245
		Irrational Rotations on l -Dimensional Tori	250
		Ordered Systems of Oscillators. Phenomenological	230
		Discussion and Heuristic Formulation of the Model of the Perfect Elastic Body (String, Film, and Solid)	252
		me i errect Liasue Body (Sumg, Filli, and Soud)	4,34

	§4.4. §4.5.	Oscillator Chains and the Vibrating String The Vibrating String as a Limiting Case of a Chain of	258
	846	Oscillators. The Case of Vanishing g and h. Wave Equation Witnesting Strings Capacity Case. The Dirichlet Broblem	263
	§4.6.	Vibrating String: General Case. The Dirichlet Problem in $[0, L]$ Elastic Film. The Dirichlet Problem in $\Omega \subset \mathbb{R}^2$ and	270
	§4.7. §4.8.	General Considerations on the Waves Anharmonic Oscillators. Small Oscillations and	277
		Integrable Systems	283
	§4.9.	Integrable Systems. Central Motions with Nonvanishing Areal Velocity. The Two-Body Problem	290
	§4.10.	Kepler's Marvelous Laws	297
		Integrable Systems. Solid with a Fixed Point	307
		Integrable Systems. Geodesic Motion on the Surface of
	•	an Ellipsoid and Other Systems	321
	§4.13.	Some Integrability Criteria. Introduction: Geometric
	9	Considerations and Preliminary Definitions	330
	84.14.	Analytically Integrable Systems. Frequency of Visits	550
	34.11.	and Ergodicity	338
	84 15	Analytic Integrability Criteria. Complexity of the	330
	g4.15.	Motion and Entropy	350
5		lity Properties for Dissipative and ervative Systems	363
5	Cons	ervative Systems	363
5		ervative Systems A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some
5	Cons §5.1.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems	363
5	$5.1. $5.2.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope	363 367
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability	363 367 372
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov	363 367
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague	363 367 372 380
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point	363 367 372 380
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold	363 367 372 380
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive	363 367 372 380 388 407
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5. $5.6.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem	363 367 372 380
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem On the Stability Theory for the Periodic Orbits and	363 367 372 380 388 407
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5. $5.6. $5.7.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem On the Stability Theory for the Periodic Orbits and More Complex Attractors (Introduction)	363 367 372 380 388 407 431
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5. $5.6. $5.7.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem On the Stability Theory for the Periodic Orbits and More Complex Attractors (Introduction) Stability in Conservative Systems: Introduction	363 367 372 380 388 407
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5. $5.6. $5.7.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem On the Stability Theory for the Periodic Orbits and More Complex Attractors (Introduction) Stability in Conservative Systems: Introduction The Formal Theory of Perturbations by the Hamilton-	363 367 372 380 388 407 431
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5. $5.6. $5.7. $5.8.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem On the Stability Theory for the Periodic Orbits and More Complex Attractors (Introduction) Stability in Conservative Systems: Introduction The Formal Theory of Perturbations by the Hamilton–Jacobi Method	363 367 372 380 388 407 431 441 463
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5. $5.6. $5.7. $5.8.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem On the Stability Theory for the Periodic Orbits and More Complex Attractors (Introduction) Stability in Conservative Systems: Introduction The Formal Theory of Perturbations by the Hamilton– Jacobi Method Some Simple Properties of the Holomorphic Functions.	363 367 372 380 388 407 431 441 463
5	$5.1. $5.2. $5.3. $5.4. $5.5. $5.6. $5.7. $5.8. $5.9. $5.10.	A Mathematical Model for the Illustration of Some Properties of the Dissipative Systems Stationary Motions for a Dissipative Gyroscope Attractors and Stability The Stability Criterion of Lyapunov Application to the Model of §5.1. The Notion of Vague Attractivity of a Stationary Point Vague-Attractivity Properties. The Attractive Manifold An Application: Bifurcations of the Vaguely Attractive Stationary Points into Periodic Orbits. The Hopf Theorem On the Stability Theory for the Periodic Orbits and More Complex Attractors (Introduction) Stability in Conservative Systems: Introduction The Formal Theory of Perturbations by the Hamilton–Jacobi Method	363 367 372 380 388 407 431 441 463

Appendices
The Cauchy-Schwartz Inequality	52 1
The Lagrange-Taylor Expansion	522
C [∞] -Functions with Bounded Support and Related
Functions	524
Principle of the Vanishing Integrals	525
Matrix Notations. Eigenvalues and Eigenvectors. A List of Some Basic Results in Algebra	526
Positive-Definite Matrices. Eigenvalues and
Eigenvectors. A List of the Basic Properties	529
Implicit Function Theorems	532
The Ascoli-Arzelà Convergence Criterion	540
Fourier Series for Functions in $\overline{C}^{\infty}([0,L])$.	543
Proof of Eq. (5.6.20)	545
Proof of Eq. (5.6.63)	547
The Analytic Implicit Function Theorem	549
A Simple Algorithm for the Solutions of the Differential
Equations. The Finite Difference Method	553
Some Astronomical Data	555
finition and Symbols	561
References
Index
	The Cauchy-Schwartz Inequality The Lagrange-Taylor Expansion C^{∞} -Functions with Bounded Support and Related Functions Principle of the Vanishing Integrals Matrix Notations. Eigenvalues and Eigenvectors. A List of Some Basic Results in Algebra Positive-Definite Matrices. Eigenvalues and Eigenvectors. A List of the Basic Properties Implicit Function Theorems The Ascoli-Arzelà Convergence Criterion Fourier Series for Functions in $\overline{C}^{\infty}([0, L])$. Proof of Eq. (5.6.20) Proof of Eq. (5.6.63) The Analytic Implicit Function Theorem A Simple Algorithm for the Solutions of the Differential Equations. The Finite Difference Method Some Astronomical Data			