

Contents

Introduction

Amélie Mummendey . . . . .	1
----------------------------	---

1. A Social Psychological Interpretation of Human Aggression

James T. Tedeschi . . . . .	5
-----------------------------	---

Current Concepts of Aggression . . . . .	5
The Study of Threats and Punishments . . . . .	10
Laboratory Research on Aggression . . . . .	17
Conclusion . . . . .	19

2. Motivation Theory of Aggression and Its Relation to Social Psychological Approaches

Hans-Joachim Kornadt . . . . .	21
--------------------------------	----

Motivation Theory of Aggression . . . . .	23
Relationship Between Motivation Theory and Social Psychological Approaches . . . . .	27
Essentials of the Motivation Theory . . . . .	28
Conclusion . . . . .	30

3. Individual Differences and Aggressive Interactions

Horst Zunkley . . . . .	33
-------------------------	----

Social Psychological Perspective: “Aggressive” Is Always the Other Person . . . . .	33
“Aggressive” Is Always the Other Person?: Some Research Gaps . . . . .	34
Retaliation Norm in Aggressive Interactions and Individual Differences . . . . .	35

Causal Ambiguity in Aggressive Interactions and Individual Differences . . .	41
Concluding Remarks . . . . .	47
4. Aggression as Discourse
Kenneth J. Gergen . . . . .	51
Aggression as Linguistically Grounded . . . . .	54
The Structural Unpacking of Aggression Discourse . . . . .	57
On the Negotiation of Aggression . . . . .	64
Summary . . . . .	67
5. Aggression: From Act to Interaction
Amélie Mummendey, Volker Linneweber, and Gabi Löschper . . . . .	69
Mutually Interpreting Behavior in Aggressive Interactions . . . . .	76
The Context of Aggressive Interactions: Taxonomy of Social Situations . . .	84
The Actor-Victim Divergence in Aggressive Interactions . . . . .	92
Conceptions About the Progress of Aggressive Interactions . . . . .	98
Conclusion . . . . .	100
6. Patterns of Aggressive Social Interaction
Richard B. Felson . . . . .	107
Theoretical Approaches . . . . .	108
A Description of Aggressive Incidents . . . . .	113
Discussion . . . . .	123
7. Frustration, Aggression, and the Sense of Justice
Jorge da Gloria . . . . .	127
Reactions to Failure, Obstruction, and Attack . . . . .	132
Coping with Failure . . . . .	134
Coping with Obstruction and Attack . . . . .	135
8. The Relations Among Attribution, Moral Evaluation, Anger, and Aggression in Children and Adults
Brendan G. Rule and Tamara J. Ferguson . . . . .	143
The Role of Norms and Causality in Blame, Anger, and Aggression . . . . .	143
Biasing Conditions . . . . .	148
Conclusions . . . . .	150
General Issues . . . . .	151

9. Social Justice and the Legitimation of Aggressive Behavior
Dieter Birnbacher . . . . .	157
Three Uses of the Concept "Aggression" . . . . .	158
Principles of Social Justice and Their Role in Aggressive Interaction . . . . .	159
The Utilitarian Way Out . . . . .	168
 Author Index . . . . .	 171
 Subject Index . . . . .	 174