

Contents

|          |                                                                                                    |            |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 1 | Bispecific Antibodies: Developments and Current Perspectives                                | 1   |
|          | Roland E. Kontermann                                                                               |            |
| 2 | Bispecific Antibodies from Hybrid Hybridoma                                                 | 29  |
|          | Gerhard Moldenhauer                                                                                |            |
| 3 | Generation of Bispecific Antibodies by Chemical Conjugation                                 | 47  |
|          | Diego Ellerman and Justin M. Scheer                                                                |            |
| 4 | Trivalent and Trispecific Antibody Derivatives for Cancer Therapy                           | 65  |
|          | Christoph Stein, Ingo Schubert, and Georg H. Fey                                                   |            |
| 5 | Diabodies, Single-Chain Diabodies, and Their Derivatives                                    | 83  |
|          | Dafne Müller and Roland E. Kontermann                                                              |            |
| 6 | Bispecific Single Domain Antibodies                                                         | 101 |
|          | Patrick Chames and Daniel Baty                                                                     |            |
| 7 | Alternative Scaffolds as Bispecific Antibody Mimetics                                       | 115 |
|          | John Löfblom and Fredrik Y. Frejd                                                                  |            |
| 8 | Tribodies: Fab–scFv Fusion Proteins as a Platform to Create Multifunctional Pharmaceuticals | 135 |
|          | Nico Mertens                                                                                       |            |
| 9 | The Design and Engineering of IgG-Like Bispecific Antibodies                                | 151 |
|          | Pei Jin and Zhenping Zhu                                                                           |            |

|           |                                                                                                                                                              |            |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 10 | Dual-Variable Domain Immunoglobulin (DVD-Ig™) Technology:A Versatile, Novel Format for the Next Generationof Dual-Targeting Biologics ..... | 171 |
|           | Edit Tarcsa, Wolfgang Fraunhofer, Tariq Ghayur,Jochen Salfeld, and Jijie Gu                                                                              |            |
| 11 | Two-in-One Antibodies .....                                                                                                                           | 187 |
|           | Patrick Koenig and Germaine Fuh                                                                                                                              |            |
| 12 | The Dock-and-Lock (DNL) Approach to Novel BispecificAntibodies .....                                                                             | 199 |
|           | Chien-Hsing Chang, Edmund A. Rossi, Robert M. Sharkey,and David M. Goldenberg                                                                            |            |
| 13 | Effector Cell Recruitment by Bispecific Antibodies .....                                                                                              | 217 |
|           | Christian Kellner, Matthias Peipp, and Thomas Valerius                                                                                                       |            |
| 14 | Bispecific Antibodies for Arming Activated T Cellsand Other Effector Cells for Tumor Therapy .....                                               | 243 |
|           | Lawrence G. Lum and Archana Thakur                                                                                                                           |            |
| 15 | Bispecific T Cell Engager for Cancer Therapy .....                                                                                                    | 273 |
|           | Patrick A. Baeuerle, Gerhard Zugmaier, and Dominik Rüttinger                                                                                                 |            |
| 16 | Trifunctional Triomab® Antibodies for Cancer Therapy .....                                                                                            | 289 |
|           | Horst Lindhofer, Juergen Hess, and Peter Ruf                                                                                                                 |            |
| 17 | Bispecific Antibodies for the Retargeting of Cytokines .....                                                                                          | 313 |
|           | Bruno Robert, Christel Larbouret, David Azria,Jean-Pierre Mach, and André Pèlegri                                                                        |            |
| 18 | Bispecific Antibodies and Gene Therapy .....                                                                                                          | 327 |
|           | Dirk M. Nettelbeck                                                                                                                                           |            |
| 19 | Bispecific Antibodies for Diagnostic Applications .....                                                                                               | 349 |
|           | Archana Parashar, Susmita Sarkar, Advaita Ganguly,Sai Kiran Sharma, and Mavanur R. Suresh                                                                |            |
|           | Index .....                                                                                                                                           | 369 |