

Table of Contents

|                                                                       |   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|---|
| Development of Cardiac Surgery in Europe:Future Demands . . . . . | 1 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|---|

M. E. M. MACEDO
Lisbon, Portugal

|                                                                                                                                                     |   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|
| Thrombolytic Therapy for Acute Coronary Obstruction:Potential Benefits from Early Reperfusionin Acute Coronary Artery Obstruction . . . . . | 8 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|

P. G. HUGENHOLTZ
Rotterdam, The Netherlands

I. Long-Term Effects of Coronary Artery Bypass Surgery

|                                                                                 |    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Long-term Survival After Coronary Bypass:A Study of 1373 Patients . . . . . | 21 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

T. ÅBERG, J. RAMSTRÖM, S.-O. NYSTRÖM,
A. HALLÉN, G. HELMIUS, I. CULLHED, L. NORDGREN,
and S. BRUNNKVIST
Uppsala, Sweden

|                                                                                                                       |    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Results of Coronary Revascularization in Patientswith Very Poor Versus Normal Left Ventricular Function . . . . . | 29 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

B. MOCHTAR, K. LAIRD-MEETER, R. W. BROWER,
M. M. P. HAALEBOS, E. BOS, and P. G. HUGENHOLTZ
Rotterdam, The Netherlands

|                                                                           |    |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Progression of Coronary Artery Disease After BypassGrafting . . . . . | 31 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|

P. GUITERAS, M. MASOTTI, J. ALTIMIRAS, T. BASSONS,
J. M. AUGÉ, C. CREXELLS, and A. ORIOL
Barcelona, Spain

|                                                                                                                                                        |    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Left Ventricular Systolic Function and Diastolic FillingBefore and After Coronary Artery Bypass Surgery . . . . .                                  | 40 |
| P. BRUGGER, K. LUDWIG, F. LOHFeyer, F. UNGER,and G. KLEINSaalfelden/Salzburg, Austria                                                   |    |
| Radionuclide Study of Left Ventricular Wall MotionBefore and After Coronary Bypass Surgery . . . . .                                               | 47 |
| E. ASTORRI, M. BUSI, G. A. CONTINI, G. GAVARUZZI,and P. P. FERRETTIParma, Italy                                                         |    |
| Coronary Artery Bypass in Patients with LeftMain Disease: Long-Term Results . . . . .                                                              | 54 |
| G. MINZIONI, T. RAGNI, C. GOGGI, P. SPREAFICO,and M. VIGANOPavia, Italy                                                                 |    |
| Loss of Improvement After Myocardial Revascularization:11-Years Follow-Up . . . . .                                                                | 58 |
| I. SHEIBAN, G. P. TREVI, C. CASAROTTO, P. BENUSSI,A. SCURO, R. ACCARDI, A. MOTTA, G. PUGLIESE,A. MARINI, and A. BENINIVerona, Italy |    |
| Progression of Coronary Artery Disease (CAD)After Bypass Grafting (CABG) ( Abstract ) . . . . .                                             | 65 |
| P. GUITERAS, M. MASOTTI, J. ALTIMIRAS, T. BASSONS,J. M. AUGÉ, C. CREXELLS, and A. ORIOLBarcelona, Spain                                 |    |
| Heart Transplantation for End Stage CoronaryHeart Disease: A 4-Year Experience . . . . .                                                           | 66 |
| H. REICHENSPURNER, B. M. KEMKES, G. OSTERHOLZER,and B. REBLEMunich, FRG                                                                 |    |
| Intraarterial Digital Subtraction Angiographyfor Postoperative Determination of AortocoronaryBypass Graft Patency . . . . .                    | 71 |
| K. H. HAUENSTEIN, G. NÖLDGE, B. URBANYI, G. SPILLNER,and V. SCHLOSSERFreiburg, FRG                                                      |    |

II. Percutaneous Transluminal Coronary Angioplasty

|                                                                                                                                                                     |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Emergency Coronary Surgery Following Unsuccessful Angioplasty: Postoperative Results as a Function of Preoperative Status . . . . .                                 | 79  |
| J. PALENKER, A. SCHIESSLER, B. HEMPEL, A. JOHN,and E. S. BÜCHERLBerlin, FRG                                                                          |     |
| Emergency Coronary Artery Bypass Grafting in Patients with Acute Myocardial Ischemia After Percutaneous Transluminal Coronary Angioplasty . . . . .                 | 82  |
| B. RIGLER, D. BRANDT, H. GOMBOTZ, W. KLEIN,and J. KRAFT-KINZGraz, Austria                                                                            |     |
| Percutaneous Transluminal Coronary Angioplasty in Progressive Myocardial Ischemia: Medium-term Results . . . . .                                                    | 88  |
| N. SPAMPINATO, C. GAGLIARDI, P. STASSANO,V. DE AMICIS, M. CHELLO, G. JANNELLI, F. DI LELLO,P. PEPINO, A. MUSUMECI, and G. RICCIARDINaples, Italy |     |
| Clinical, Angiographic, and Procedural Factors Presumably Related to Persistent Success After Percutaneous Transluminal Coronary Angioplasty . . . . .              | 91  |
| A. ORIOL, P. GUITERAS, J. M. AUGÉ, M. MASOTTI,C. PERAZA, and C. CREXELLSBarcelona, Spain                                                             |     |
| Determinants of Restenosis After Coronary Angioplasty . . . . .                                                                                                     | 97  |
| P. GUITERAS, J. M. AUGÉ, M. MASOTTI, C. PERAZA,C. CREXELLS, and A. ORIOLBarcelona, Spain                                                             |     |
| Percutaneous Transluminal Coronary Angioplasty in the Management of Recurrent Angina Pectoris Following Coronary Bypass Grafting . . . . .                          | 103 |
| PH. BETTENDORFF, J. M. HABICHT, M. OULHACI,P. VALENTI, J. MARCO, and E. HAUFGenolier, Switzerland                                                    |     |
| Percutaneous Transluminal Coronary Angioplasty with Dislocated Cardiac Surgery . . . . .                                                                            | 111 |
| G. ALBER and O. BOSSETraunstein, FRG                                                                                                                     |     |

III. Surgical Techniques

|                                                                         |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Myocardial Revascularization in Septuagenariansand Beyond . . . . . | 119 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

A. FLETCHER, C. VOLETI, W. BRENNER, H. DAJEE,
P. SIDHU, M. SINGH, J. LIVERMORE, and S. KHONSARI
Los Angeles, USA

|                                                                                                                        |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Standardized Technique for Complete Revascularizationin Diffuse Three-Vessel Disease ( Abstract ) . . . . . | 125 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

M. SCHMUZIGER
Meyrin (Geneva), Switzerland

|                                                                                                                            |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Myocardial Revascularization Resultsin Women Compared with Body Surface Areaand Bypassed Vessel Diameter . . . . . | 126 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

R. RAGUSA, G. GAMBA, R. RIZZOTTI, F. CONTI,
E. TAPPAINER, F. PERANZONI, N. IVIC, and G. BESA
Verona, Italy

|                                                                                |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Aortocoronary Bypass Procedures Without Cross-Clamping the Aorta . . . . . | 130 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

P. SATTER, L. ECKEL, S. KHURI, and E. KRAUSE
Frankfurt, FRG

|                                                                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Risk Factors for Perioperative Complicationsin Coronary Artery Surgery . . . . . | 136 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

G. S. KOBINIA, P. HARTL, and P. BRÜCKE
Linz/Donau, Austria

|                                                                                                   |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| An Alternative Route for Sequential Venous Graftsof the Lateral Aspect of the Heart . . . . . | 141 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

H. VANERMEN, H. P. WYNANT, and F. WELLENS
Aalst, Belgium

|                                                                      |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Intraoperative Visualisation of Coronary Vessels ( Abstract ) | 146 |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

W. R. DIMITRI, R. SAPSFORD, R. STANBRIDGE,
and A. NICHOLAIDES
London, UK

|                                               |     |
|-----------------------------------------------|-----|
| New Trends in Myocardial Protection . . . . . | 147 |
|-----------------------------------------------|-----|

B. H. WALPOTH
Bern, Switzerland

|                                                                                                                                                                         |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| The Role of Endarterectomy in Coronary Surgery . . . .                                                                                                                  | 154 |
| H. H. SCHELD, F. W. HEHRLEIN, G. GÖRLACH, R. HÖGE,and J. MULCHGiessen, FRG                                                                               |     |
| Repair of Mitral Insufficiency on an Ischemic Basis . . . .                                                                                                             | 159 |
| O. ALFIERI, L. DESEINS, T. BIANCHI, J. BRONZWAER,and F. VERMEULENNieuwegein, The Netherlands                                                             |     |
| Myocardial Protection in Combined Coronary Bypassand Valve Procedure . . . . .                                                                                      | 164 |
| T. K. KAUL, M. LLEWELLYN, R. A. KHADIMI,D. RAMSDALE, and J. B. MEADELiverpool, UK                                                                        |     |
| Antidiuretic Hormone Levels During CardiopulmonaryBypass . . . . .                                                                                                  | 168 |
| P. MASTROROBERTO, P. PEPINO, L. DI TOMMASO,M. CHELLO, G. JANNELLI, D. PANTALEO, F. DI LELLO,M. MONACO, V. DE AMICIS, and A. R. MARCHESENaples, Italy |     |
| Methods for Blood Usage Reduction During CardiacSurgery . . . . .                                                                                                   | 172 |
| A. IATRIDIS and J. D. HILLSan Francisco, USA                                                                                                                 |     |
| Intraarterial DSA for Postoperative Determinationof ACBG Patency ( Abstract ) . . . . .                                                                      | 177 |
| B. URBANYI, K. H. HAUENSTEIN, G. NOELDEGE,and V. SCHLOSSERFreiburg, FRG                                                                                  |     |
| Experimental UV Laser Coronary Angioplasty:Initial Results ( Abstract ) . . . . .                                                                            | 178 |
| G. LAUFER, G. WOLLENEK, G. STANGL, M. DEUTSCH,and E. WOLNERVienna, Austria                                                                               |     |
| Eicosapentaenoic Acid, Persantine, and Aspirin for thePrevention of Vein Graft Intimal Hyperplasia ( Abstract ) . .                                          | 179 |
| R. W. LANDYMORE, M. A. MACAULAY, B. SHERIDAN,and C. CAMERONHalifax, Canada                                                                               |     |

|                                                                                                                                                                      |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Further Studies of Graft Stenosis FollowingAortocoronary Bypass: II. Stage of Vein Interstitium,Preliminary Report . . . . .                                 | 180 |
| J. H. KENNEDY and C. P. WINLOVELondon, UK                                                                                                                 |     |
| Autologous Vein Harvesting Using the SubcutaneousExtraluminal Dissector ( Abstract ) . . . . .                                                            | 185 |
| W. R. DIMITRI, I. E. WEST and B. T. WILLIAMSLondon, UK                                                                                                    |     |
| Applications of New Techniques in Saphenous VeinAortocoronary Bypass Graft Operations . . . . .                                                                  | 186 |
| J. E. MOLINA and J. A. ESTRINMinneapolis, USA                                                                                                             |     |
| The Mammary Artery as Preferential Conduitin Coronary Artery Bypass Operations . . . . .                                                                         | 192 |
| E. BERREKLOUW, R. DE GEEST, O. ALFIERI,A. BRUTEL DE LA RIVIERE, J. DEFAUW, P. KNAEPEN,H. VAN SWIETEN, and F. VERMEULENNieuwegein, The Netherlands |     |
| Mammary Versus Saphena Grafting to the LeftAnterior Descending Artery . . . . .                                                                                  | 198 |
| M. MASOTTI, P. GUITERAS, C. CREXELLS, J. M. AUGÉ,A. ARÍS, J. M. CARALPS, J. M. PADRÓ, and A. ORIOLBarcelona, Spain                                    |     |
| Crossed Double Internal Mammary Artery-CoronaryGrafts: 12 Year Follow-Up ( Abstract ) . . . . .                                                           | 205 |
| A. S. GEHANew Haven, USA                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Behaviour of Interstitial Biopolymers in Normaland Stretched Saphenous Vein Excised for AortocoronaryBypass . . . . .                                        | 206 |
| J. H. KENNEDYSorrento, Maine, USA                                                                                                                         |     |

IV. Coronary Artery Surgery in Acute Myocardial Infarction

|                                                                                                         |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Severe Perioperative Cardiogenic Shock in Open HeartSurgery: Benefits of Combined Therapy . . . . . | 213 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

M. GOENEN

Brussels, Belgium

|                                                                                                                               |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Improved Detection of Perioperative MyocardialInfarction After Cardiac Surgery Using CK-MB MassMeasurements . . . . . | 217 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

J.-P. CHAPELLE, M. EL ALLAF, R. LARBUISSON, R. LIMET,
M. LAMY, and C. HEUSGHEM

Liège, Belgium

|                                                                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Advantages of Revascularization in Patients AfterMyocardial Infarction . . . . . | 224 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

A. MARKEWITZ, N. SCHAD, W. HEMMER, B. REICHART, and E. KREUZER

Munich, FRG

V. Reoperation

|                                                          |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Coronary Artery Reoperations: A 6-Years Experience . . . | 229 |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-----|

A. SCHÜTZ, CH. WEINHOLD, B. M. KEMKES, E. KREUZER,
and J. BEENISCH

Munich, FRG

|                                                                                                                    |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Late Results in Coronary Reoperations and InvestigationsConcerning Their Cause, Mortality, and Morbidity . . . | 232 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

J. M. HABICHT, PH. BETTENDORFF, H. P. WIJNEN,
and E. HAUF

Genolier, Switzerland

|                                                                                 |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Outcome of Re-interventions After Aorto-CoronaryBypass Operations . . . . . | 238 |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

K. LAIRD-MEETER, R. VAN DOMBURG,
M. J. B. M. VD BRAND, E. BOS, and P. G. HUGENHOLTZ

Rotterdam, The Netherlands

|                                                                             |     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Coronary Artery Regrafting in 64 Cases:Results and Experience . . . . . | 244 |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

J. RAMSTRÖM, T. ÅBERG, S.-O. NYSTRÖM, A. HALLÉN,
S. BRUNNKVIST, L. NORDGREN, and E. ENGHOF

Uppsala, Sweden

|                                                                                                                                  |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Reoperation After Coronary Bypass Surgery:Technical Aspects and Long-term Follow-up . . . . .                                | 248 |
| R. A. E. DION, G. JAMBROES, B. JAMBROES, B. J. AMSEL,R. VAN HAASE, P. WALTER, and J. F. HITCHCOCKAntwerp, Belgium |     |
| Redo-Surgery for Coronary Heart Disease: Do theOperative Problems Determine the Postoperative Results? . . . . .             | 255 |
| A. SCHIESSLER, J. PALENKER, B. HEMPEL, A. JOHN,and E. S. BÜCHERLBerlin, FRG                                       |     |
| Repeat Coronary Revascularization ProceduresAfter Primary Direct Coronary Surgery . . . . .                                  | 258 |
| P. SERGEANT, W. FLAMENG, M. SCHETZ, L. DEKEYZER,and R. SUYLeuven, Belgium                                         |     |
| Coronary Artery Bypass Reoperation:Indication and Results . . . . .                                                          | 260 |
| P. SPREAFICO, G. MINZIONI, A. GRAFFIGNA, E. ARBUSTINI,and M. VIGANO'Pavia, Italy                                  |     |
| Subject Index . . . . .                                                                                                          | 263 |