

Table of Contents

Ulrike Brunotte / Jürgen Mohn / Christina Späti Preliminary Remarks	7
Colonialism, Orientalism and the Jews
Steven E. Aschheim The Modern Jewish Experience and the Entangled Web of Orientalism.....	11
Ulrike Brunotte “The Jewes did Indianize; or the Indians doe Judaize”: Philo-Semitism and anti-Judaism as Topoi of Colonial Discourse. A Case Study.....	35
Jewish Orientalization and Self-Orientalization
Hillegard Frübis The Figure of the Beautiful Jewess : Displacements on the Borders between East and West.....	61
Mirjam Rajner A Turbaned German of Mosaic Faith: Moritz Daniel Oppenheim’s Visual Self-Orientalization	73
The Jew in Literature: Antisemitism, the Colonial Paradigm and the Orient
Cecilie Speggers Schröder Simonsen Colonialism in the Ghetto: Reading Aus dem Ghetto as Self-Colonizing Literature	87
Christine Achinger Orientalism, Occidentalism and Colonialism in Freytag’s Images of Jews and Poles	99
Axel Stähler The Author’s derrière and the Ludic Impulse: Oskar Panizza’s “The Operated Jew” (1893) and Amy Levy’s “Cohen of Trinity” (1889).....	111

Jewish Masculinity, Gender and Orientalism

Ofri Ilany

Homo-Semitism:

Jewish Men, Greek Love and the Rise of Homosexual Identity 131

Gabriele Dietze

Affective Masculinity:

Queering Jewish Orientalism in Young Vienna 143

Karin Stögner

Nature and Anti-Nature:

Constellations of Antisemitism and Sexism 157

Jews as Orientals and De-Orientalization

Christina Späti

Between Exoticism and Antisemitism:

Orientalization of Jews in Switzerland in the

Late Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries 173

Dekel Peretz

Franz Oppenheimer:

A Pioneer of Diasporic Zionism 187

Jihan Jasmin S. Dean

De-Orientalization of Jews after 1989 in Germany:

The Relationship between Discourse and Subjects 201

List of Contributors 213

Plates 217