Mazzarella fm thru 5_Mazzarella.qxd 8/2/2010 1:03 PM Page vii

Contents

Foreword by Dafna Lemish ix

Acknowledgments xv

Introduction by Sharon R. Mazzarella 1

Section One: Representing Self, Identity, and Lived Experiences

1. The Girls of El Seybo: Logging in to a Different Manaña
   Paola Prado 9

2. Degrees of Caution: Arab Girls Unveil on Facebook
   Rodda Leage & Ivana Chalmers 27

3. "Get on My Level": How Black American Adolescent Girls Construct Identity and Negotiate Sexuality on the Internet
   Carla E. Stokes 45

4. East Meets West: Is There a Difference Between Thai and American Girls' Use of the Internet and Negotiation of Identity?
   Narissra Maria Punyanunt-Carter & Jason M. Smith 69

5. Go Cyworld! : Korean Diasporic Girls Producing New Korean Femininity
   Michelle S. Bae 91

Mazzarella fm thru 5_Mazzarella.qxd 8/2/2010 1:03 PM Page viii

Section Two: Girls as Cultural Producers

6. Me/Her/Draco Malfoy: Fangirl Communities and Their Fictions
JAIME WARBURTON 117

7. Looking into the Digital Mirror: Reflections on a Computer Camp for Girls by Girls
KRISTINE BLAIR, ERIN DIETEL-MCLAUGHLIN & MEREDITH GRAUPNER HURLEY 139

8. We Wanted Other People to Learn from Us": Girls Blogging in Rural South Africa in the Age of AIDS
CLAUDIA MITCHELL, JOHN PASCARELLA, NAYDENE DE LANGE & JEAN STUART 161

9. Blogrings as Virtual Communities for Adolescent Girls
JACQUELINE RYAN VICKERY 183

Section Three: Online "Spaces" for Girls

10. Whyville versus MySpace: How Girls Negotiate Identities Online
JILL DENNER & JACOB MARTINEZ 203

11. When Girls Go Online to Play: Measuring and Assessing Play and Learning at Commercial Websites
LILLIAN SPINA-CAZA 223

12. Talking Pink and Green: Exploring Teen Girls' Online Discussions of Environmental Issues
DENISE SEVICK BORTREE 245

13. "Community, Content, and Commerce": Alloy.com and the Commodification of Tween/Teen Girl Communities
SHARON R. MAZZARELLA & ALLISON ATKINS 263

Contributors 283