

The Brahan Seer: The Making of a Legend

Alex Sutherland

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Abbreviations	9
Stylistic Conventions	11
1 Introduction	13
The legend of the Brahan Seer	13
The Scottish context	24
2 The Fowlis Affair and the ‘Real’ Coinneach Odhar?	29
Introduction	29
The Fowlis trials: witchcraft practice and belief	34
The involvement of King James VI	43
The historical Coinneach Odhar, leader of witches	49
Conclusion	54
3 Witchcraft Trials in Restoration Scotland:
Rational Reluctance and Corrupt Exploitation	59
Introduction	59
Witchcraft: legal process and social environment	62
The pursuit of witches in and around Easter Ross, 1661–62	70
Countess Isabella, the Mackenzie family and witchcraft	79
Conclusion	88
4 Enlightenment and Elite Interest in Second Sight	91
Introduction	91
Early enquiries into second sight	97
Travellers’ tales: gathering scepticism and religious demands	107
Scientific explanations and the popularity of animal magnetism	119
Conclusion	124

5	Coinneach Odhar in Oral Tradition	127
	Introduction	127
	Highland oral tradition: gathering a declining culture	132
	Coinneach Odhar in oral tradition	138
	Coinneach Odhar and the last of the Seaforth Mackenzies	151
	Conclusion	159
6	The Making of a Legend	161
	Introduction	161
	The Romantic invention of the Brahan Seer	166
	The Romantic vision of the Highlands	175
	Second sight in Romantic literature	183
	Conclusion	192
7	The Power of Prophecy	195
	Introduction	195
	Second sight enquiries in their historical context	199
	Contemporary use of the Brahan Seer's prophecies	208
	The use and content of prophecy in Highland culture	214
	Comparative prophetic traditions	221
	Conclusion	226
8	Conclusion	229
	Bibliography	243
	Primary sources	243
	Secondary sources	254
	Index	269