Exploration of Cosmic Energy Sources

The Beginning of a new spiritual Era

“All what we materialize is unseparable connected with our own imagination. We ourselves and not the so called natural laws determine what the equipment does or does not. If there is enough ‘mind power’ put in, possibly also under enclosure of ‘otherworldly’ powers, then something ‘paranormal’ happens. In case of the Energypyramid I can assume that a ‘subtle energy’ is used, like being used and researched by the “International Society for the Study of Subtile Energys and Energy Medicine”. Prof. Dr. Ernst Senkowski, Physicist, 1996

“We must enter with our thoughts and emotions into the things in our environment! We must identify with it, if we want to understand it, and if we want to know how it works.”

André Glucksmann, Philosopher

come all of us. Somehow we should go back to use the ancient powers of our ancestors who moved giant stones by hand. What happened to me during my Kundalini Yoga exercises in earlier times, happens now almost by itself. I cannot withdraw myself from those experiences. The Cosmic Consciousness lives in all of us. We should use it even more, and we should start to express it more and more into our daily life. We should remember our divine roots. This is our actual challenge!

At the Beginning was the Idea

Since 1962 I am busy with the basic idea if it would be possible for me to contribute something for the positive development of humans. Obvious defects in the social manners, in the international events, in health-care development, and in science are noticeable. Because of these facts I became biological technician. I passed my exam in 1966, and I worked in the basic field of science and searched for perceptions and solutions, which brought me closer to this goal. Soon I had to learn that such new solutions cannot be found system immanent.

In modern universities real alternates are not even discussed nor seriously searched for. In universities mobbing goes on, who might be the best, who is the greatest, who has the command. All young scientists have fear to be laughed about when announcing a new idea, which is not completely hedged. It may ruin their carrier having a different opinion than their supervisor. This way many new ideas are secretly researched, and then perhaps published many years later. Very new ideas do not have a chance to be explored.

When I was able to proof to my professor at the Institute for microbiology at the university Kaiserslautern in 1974 that the particle rays of the sunspot activity disturb the growth of microorganism in our labortory, he stated that I should shut up with this "Russian Nonsense". He did not tell me what this could mean.

20 years later in 1994 I learned in a conversation with the physicist Prof. Dr. Albert Popp, that my former boss attended a congress for microbiology in Moskow which stated the same fact as my research. Instead of being happy about that his co-worker comes up with the same results, he prohibited any discussion about this subject and concealed the results from other colleagues. Also Prof. Dr. Albert Popp („Biology of the Light“) was not liked and had a difficult time to get his project financed. Finally, after more than 20 years, his procedure to measure mitose rays (the light which comes out of cells, the source of our aura) was patented and acknowledged by our federal government.

Nothing has changed until this time. In August 1996 I learned from television, that a professor from the University of Munich stated "often energy fields were suspected around human bodys, but it could not be measured yet".

As a "scientist" this professor should know that his colleague Prof. Dr. med. Sauerbruch from the famous Charité in Berlin has measured together with an engineer from Siemens already the "energy fields around the human body" in 1928. This behavior of denial we find in all modern universities. They are still working like the first universities which have been founded by the Catholic Church to prove that the words in the bible are all true wisdom, and all kind of answers to life and science have to be found in the bible, and of course the earth is a disc. I shall come back to Sauerbruch's experiences later on.

Religion and Science

Today I believe that there are very few representatives of established science who are open to unconfessional thinking. In the summer of 1994, during my overnight stay in Halle at the "Haus der Wissenschaftler" (house of scientists) I met Prof. Oswald F. Schuette, a retired professor of astrophysics from the university of Columbia/South Carolina/USA. We talked about my research and plans. His job was to stay in Halle and refresh the contacts with East Germany that once existed before the isolation of the "DDR" (East Germany). He had a lot of knowledge about the history of science and economy. With a smile Prof. Schuette explained to me: "A meeting of this kind, you and me sitting at a table, happened 80 years ago. Then Mr. Harnak and my friend and teacher professor Just met in the Emperor Wilhelm Society in Berlin.

Harnack was searching for a solution, which could bring science in harmony with religion. Also Harnak felt an ethic obligation towards religion and science. A synthesis of spirit, believe, and science, with the goal of science, which serves mankind and leads to higher developement. Harnak was actually a theologist, but also an engaged biologist. Prof. Just told him then that he would never reach the acknowledgement by the universities with his philosophy and search for an ethic connection

Image 1 shows me with a reduced energy field, stressed and strained by the car ride. Then we took the photos of the other 3 persons. For about 10 minutes I did a relaxation exercise out of my „Energytraining“. As you can see, my method works very well. From a therapist who works with the aura camera for many years, we know that it is normally impossible to get from the stressed and exhausted state (Image 1) to an energized state (Image 2) in only 10 minutes.

Comments by Horus: „The luminous red corona around the other colors shows that you are active inside and that you repulse external influences. Purple colors always show a relation to supernatural powers. They show that somebody is leaving normal perception. The violet colors at your right arms show that you all work mentally and reach the spiritual world. You are in permanent contact with the spiritual world, with me.“ The violet spots at the right arm show that we all continuously emit spiritual energy into the outer world.

Horus: „(Image 1) Dark red is a sign of aggression and egocentricity. Light red shows great activity. Orange indicates that you want to be creative, suppressed feelings that cannot be expressed. If you learn to express them, it turns into a deep yellow. If there is a changeover to light yellow, it's an internal change to more reflection. Harald shows an over exuberant activity (Image 2). Green colors show healing and harmonizing processes (Image 3).“

After placing the Energypyramid B and taking the photographs again after a few minutes, there were green colorations in every person's aura. (Images 3/5/9). Tobias' (9 years old) photo also shows a white stripe and a strong blue coloration on the left side. In Celina's (8 years old) it, give your positive plans to all humanity, and be sure, you positive thoughts will be reinforced and send all over this planet. Model D is a kind of subtel mind machine. Bovis units of up to 320.000 have been measured.

Model E opens a contact to the stars. The larger the pyramids are, the higher their vibrations! Horus told me that we are here on earth somehow isolated from cosmic contacts. The divine forces which have established the human race on earth have taken care that no extraterrestrial forces can disturb us. There are only sometimes some visitors from outer space here on earth.

Since the new millennium started we should get a chance for further mental contacts to our brothers and sisters in space, and this is what model E can support. New vibrations are coming down to bring us closer to our partners in space. All SF stories talking about bad alien invaders are bullshit for stupid guys.

Bovis units of up to 480.000 have been measured. Model E opens a funnel for new cosmic energy sources, and if we learn to use it, it will really be a source of new inventions.

Model F overcomes the space-time barrier which covers planet earth. It taps into power fields beyond the earthly power shields. New creative energy is streaming down on earth. While model E is just opening a funnel, model F is even much more powerful. Model F delivers a vast stream of cosmic energy, a stream of cosmic particles which are the basis for all kind of inventions. Bovis units of up to 760.000 have been measured.

Model G provides an inexhaustible stream of Materia Prima from which everything is created directly into the meridians of mother earth. Its function is somehow similar to model F, but so much stronger. It was the best solution to place one model G 10 yards high in one chain with the other 6 Energypyramids as substations to slow down the stream of cosmic particles for its use on earth. Very good solution! Bovis units of 4,5 million have been measured in France where the only G model has been placed (until 2016).

I don't know if you can follow my words and my thinking. But it's so great to understand the planning of Horus, and to feel his divine power realizing his cosmic plan for the development of humans, and to have the grace to be a part of it.

I like to remember a message from Horus from 1996:

July 96 Horus: The use of the new power needs mental control from the user. Only this way best results will be gained. Without the mental control and without a positive relationship to the new power the users will Aztecs 2.100 years ago. Now it is time to take the next step.

Horus 25. 7. 95: „Goal of your future seminars should be to teach humans about mental control, mental influence, and mental behavior: You should teach the following: Readiness to serve, ability to heal, care-taking for life as it is. Your big tasks in life: realize, - serve, - delegate, - please, - be helpful, - live consciously and give love, - raise and discipline, - perceive what is going on, - participate in the big game of life.

There are so many people who need help, give them a choice: To become healthy and holy with effort or to go under in the big brew.“ I don't want to comment on the “big tasks“ now. It is worth to think about it, even though some expressions sound strange. Especially that's it what creates attention and makes us think about!

Just a short comment about mental control: First we must learn to control ourselves, then we realize that we are constantly controlled by others, and we learn how mental influence works, and mental discipline will help to protect us in this “electronic-media-age-time“ against mental control. All my work serves these important points.

The Golden Barque: After one evening of intensive energytraining we have seen a golden barque coming through the wall of our meditation room. Behind it we could see a big hall of an Egyptian temple. Horus explains to me Sept. 11, '95, 22:35 o'clock: “The sun barque gives you the opportunity to rise to God. It is a path that reaches through the limitations of dimensions. The sun barque is a cone of energy, which you have now produced. Your energy dissolves the integrity of energetic waves which have been woven by negative powers. The barque is a gate in space, a gap with 2 sides. The barque is a path that is reaching over everything else.“

3 times some seminar guest and I have seen the sun barque. The first time we sat in a group of 12 people in our yoga room. We meditated together. Powerful and devoutly vibrations filled the room. The participants were in a harmo-

Energypyramids and Feng Shui

Finally I would like to mention the connection of the Energypyramids and the Bagua (see picture Bagua). The Bagua is the mandala of energy distribution according the laws of Feng Shui. The I Ching describes the powers how they impact the daily life of humans and our development.

In the 90th of last century the philosophy of the old Chinese art of steering the natural energy which finds its expression in wind and water (Feng and Shui) has come to Europe. The old Chinese have observed and noted the flows of wind, water, and energy in nature over centuries. They got results that the principles how the energy flows in a certain region, where it comes from and where it goes to, repeats itself on all levels in the cosmos and as well in our life and social structures. The octogonal Bagua including the Yin-Yan symbol, surrounded by the 8 elemental signs of the I Ching (the holy book of transformations) connects all of these powers. Like a pyramid the Bagua must be aligned with a compass. Then it shows which room of a house is in which energy flow.

So the Energypyramid because of its 8 edges is like the Bagua, we can place the Bagua under an Energypyramid. This way we get more information. After the teachings of the Feng Shui the corresponding flow of cosmic energy will also support different organs. The given colors also support the energy flow.

A room in the south therefore would be well-suited as reception area or living room in order to promote the own prestige. It should be held in red colours. A room in the southwest is good for a couple suitable as bedroom and should be held in orange or pink. A room in the north would be suitable as office in order to make career. It should contain black furniture, as well as an aquarium. It is good for successful telephone calls (ear). The other directions are to be handled accordingly.

Some time ago we discovered an interesting phenomenon: A client asked us whether it is possible to stabilize the energy field of a smaller Energypyramid somehow, to reinforce the inside field and to restrict the outside. As a result I got the vision from Horus of 4 crystal axes of model B with particular pillars of massive brass, gilded. The 4 crystal axes are set up vertically, and they must correspond to the colours that I see men-
