Preface

This work is a revision of a doctoral dissertation presented to the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary at Andrews University in 2018. It is my pleasant duty to thank several persons that have helped me see this project through. I want to thank the editors of Beihefte zur Zeitschrift für die altorientalische und biblische Rechtsgeschichte, Eckart Otto, Dominik Markl, and Guido Pfeifer, for accepting it as part of the series and the feedback in the revision. I also want to thank Jens Fetkenheuer, Tanja Köbler, and Ulrike Melzow at Harrassowitz for assistance in the preparation of the document.

I want to thank individuals and officials in the Seventh-day Adventist Church for the support that made this study possible, help during the research period, and also the grant to publish this volume. I would like to especially mention Tor Tjeransen, Reidar Kvinge, Victor Marley, Finn Eckhoff, Jóhann E. Jóhannsson, Daniel Duda, Lisa Beardsley, Lissy Park, Dean Papaioannou, and Laurie Wilson.

I want to thank John Matthews for guiding in the initial phases of the project. I want to thank the James White Library Patron Services, and Jason St. Clair in particular, for their professional, service-minded, and untiring help in finding the needed sources. And I want to thank Nicole Knapp for the close proofreading of the manuscript, and Karl Wilcox for editing the English. I want to thank specific scholars and friends for being willing to dialogue during certain phases or over concrete aspects of this book, some reading portions or all of it: Tiago Arrais, John Bergsma, Joshua Berman, Kay Ove Brinchmann, David Carr, Moises Estrada, Georg Fischer, Rodrigo Galiza, Oliver Glanz, Bernard Levinson, Felipe Masotti, Richard Medina, Flavio Prestes, Dirk Roorda, Andrew Teeter, William Tooman, Benjamin Sommer, Carsten Vang, Karl Wilcox, Nicolai Winther-Nielsen, and Michael Younker. I want to thank my wife, Marianne, for help with preparing the indices.

I want to thank Richard Davidson, who guided me through the process both with academic wisdom and pastoral care, and the committee members Roy Gane and John Peckham, who in conversation or close reading of my drafts have challenged and encouraged to mature my thinking. I also want to thank Bruce Wells for being willing to be the external examiner. I want to thank Christopher Denda, who helped me see clearer how a covenantal life might be lived in a world and relations that do not necessarily return the commitment.

I want to thank my parents, Karin and Karl J. Bergland, for all their love and care in trying to instill in me a love for God and his word.

I want to thank Felipe, Flavio, Karl W., and Richard M., for how their friendship has helped me see more clearly what a covenantal form of life may actually look like.

I want to thank Marianne and Åsne. The most cherished moments, heartfelt joy, and meaning I have found together with them. In past years they have helped me remember where life primarily is to be lived.

If I have written anything out of vanity, may it be as if it was nothing. My prayer is that the following will be to the glory of God alone! And my hope is that if someone finds a value in the following, it may include a gem of life.
