

media literacy

Edited by

Donald Macendo &
Shirley R. Steinberg

Table of Contents

Preface: Reading Media Critically SHIRLEY R. STEINBERG	xiii
Introduction: Deconstructing the Corporate Media/Government Nexus DONALDO MACEDO	xvii

Part One: Reading Media Critically

Chapter One: Critical Media Literacy, Democracy, and the Reconstruction of Education DOUGLAS KELLNER AND JEFF SHARE	3
Chapter Two: Preface to The Myth of the Liberal Media: An Edward Herman Reader NOAM CHOMSKY	24
Chapter Three: Word Tricks and Propaganda EDWARD S. HERMAN	27
Chapter Four: Toward a Democratic Media EDWARD S. HERMAN	36

Chapter Five: Critical Media Literacy for the Twenty-First Century: Taking Our Entertainment Seriously	54
PEPI LEISTYNA AND LORETTA ALPER
Chapter Six: Chomsky, the Empire, and Media Literacy: Contextualizing Chomsky's "New World Order"	79
JOE L. KINCHELOE
Chapter Seven: The New World Order	86
NOAM CHOMSKY
Chapter Eight: Their Atrocities—and Ours (NATO Bombs Killing Innocent People)	91
HOWARD ZINN
Chapter Nine: Language and Institutional Perversions in a Time of Painful Birth Pangs	95
EDWARD S. HERMAN
Chapter Ten: Television Violence at a Time of Turmoil and Terror	103
GEORGE GERBNER
Chapter Eleven: Media Knowledges, Warrior Citizenry, and Postmodern Literacies	116
PETER MCLAREN AND RHONDA HAMMER
Chapter Twleve: Media Power (Per-)Formed: The Strategies of Communication Technology and Their Consequences to the Built Environment	140
RICK DOLPHIJN
Chapter Thirteen: Visual and Verbal Thinking: Constraining and Enhancing Meaning	149
PHILIP M. ANDERSON
Chapter Fourteen: Socialization in the Changing Information Environment: Implications for Media Literacy	157
VERONIKA KALMUS
Chapter Fifteen: The Hyper-Reality That Never Happened: Expanding Digital Discourse	166
MARCUS BREEN
Chapter Sixteen: Media Mindfulness	178
GINA M. SERAFIN
Chapter Seventeen: Alternative Media: The Art of Rebellion	181
ZACK FURNESS
Chapter Eighteen: Reading Race, Reading Power	197
C. RICHARD KING
Chapter Nineteen: Putting Reality Together: The Media and Channel One as a Platform of Antidialogic Cultural Action	206
JOÃO PARASKEVA
Chapter Twenty: The Semantics of Connection and Alienation in Hyper-Reality	222
ANTHONY M. ROSELLI

Part Two: Doing Media Literacy

Chapter Twenty-one: Drowning Democracy: The Media, Neoliberalism, and the Politics of Hurricane Katrina	229
HENRY A. GIROUX
Chapter Twenty-two: Call Him a Terrorist, the Rest Is Covered: Political Murder in the U.S. Colony of Puerto Rico	242
JOSÉ SOLÍS JORDÁN
Chapter Twenty-three: The Aesthetic Pleasures of War: Understanding Propaganda in an Age of Television	256
ANTONIO LÓPEZ
Chapter Twenty-four: Pictorial Clashes on the Medial Body of Violence: Abu Ghraib, Nick Berg, and John Paul II	273
BIRGIT RICHARD
Chapter Twenty-five: Photographic Encounters of the Western Frontier	288
KALLI PAAKSPUU
Chapter Twenty-six: Hollywood's Curriculum of Arabs and Muslims in Two Acts	299
SHIRLEY R. STEINBERG
Chapter Twenty-seven: Culture Weds Capital: A Critical Reading of Gurinder Chadha's Bride and Prejudice	316
SONIYA MUNSHI
Chapter Twenty-eight: Bollywood Cinema and Indian Diaspora	332
ADITYA RAJ
Chapter Twenty-nine: Under Siege and Out of Reach: Steven Seagal and the Paradox and Politics of New Age Masculinity	340
WILLIAM REYNOLDS
Chapter Thirty: Buying and Selling Culture: Talk Show Content, Audience, and Labor as Commodities	353
CHRISTINE QUAIL, KATHALENE A. RAZZANO, AND LOUBNA H. SKALLI
Chapter Thirty-one: Mobile TV and IPTV: Two New Forms of Television	368
BENEDETTA PRARIO
Chapter Thirty-two: Audiences Unmasked: Selling the Aboriginal Peoples Television Network	378
FRANCES HEYLAR
Chapter Thirty-three: Hunting Down Indigenous Stereotypes Through Introspection	388
ANIE DESAUTELS
Chapter Thirty-four: "The toughest chick in the alien world": "Girl Power" and the Cartoon Network	395
SANDRA CHANG-KREDL
Chapter Thirty-five: Just Like Lizzie : Consumerism, Essentialism, and the Domestication of Rebellion in Disney's Lizzie McGuire	405
LARAINE WALLOWITZ

Chapter Thirty-six: Television's Mature Women: A Changing Media Archetype: From Bewitched to The Sopranos	422
MYRNA A. HANT
Chapter Thirty-seven: Bewitched . . . the 1960s Sitcom Revisited: A Queer Read	433
PATRICIA FAIRFIELD-ARTMAN, RODNEY E. LIPPARD, AND ADRIENNE SANSON
Chapter Thirty-eight: Masculinities on The O.C. : A Critical Analysis of Representations of Gender	454
ELIZABETH J. MEYER
Chapter Thirty-nine: Queer Youths Reframing Media Culture	463
ROB LINNÉ
Chapter Forty: We're Here, We're Queer . . . but Have You Dealt with It? Homosexuality in Today's Media	470
JIMMY KALAMARAS
Chapter Forty-one: Machinima : Gamers Start Playing Director	486
ROBERT JONES
Chapter Forty-two: Raging Against the Machine: The Internet and Teen Suicide	492
TERESA RISHEL
Chapter Forty-three: CyBjörk: The Representations of Donna Haraway's A Cyborg Manifesto Within Björk's Music and Video	501
ELEONOR BERRY
Chapter Forty-four: Croc This! Articulating Young Feminine Identity Through Lacoste	514
GIULIANA CUCINELLI
Chapter Forty-five: Call Center Job Advertisements in India	522
PAPIA RAJ

Part Three: Media Literacy and Pedagogy

Chapter Forty-six: The Need for Critical Media Literacy in Teacher Education Core Curricula	537
MYRIAM N. TORRES AND MARIA D. MERCADO
Chapter Forty-seven: Literacy and Learning Through Digital Media: Education or Contradiction?	559
LESLIE B. MASHBURN AND JOHN A. WEAVER
Chapter Forty-eight: "Diving into the Wreck": Mystery Writing to Enact Critical Media Literacy	567
CINDY MEYER SABIK, BETHANY DAVIN, CAROLYNE J. WHITE
Chapter Forty-nine: School of (Punk) Rock: An Autobiographical Rant on Education	576
ANTONIO LÓPEZ

Chapter Fifty: Punk Rock, Hip Hop, and the Politics of Human Resistance: Reconstituting the Social Studies Through Critical Media Literacy CURRY MALOTT AND BRAD PORFILIO	582
Chapter Fifty-one: Social Education and Critical Media Literacy: Can Mr. Potato Head Help Challenge Binaries, Essentialism, and Orientalism? ÖZLEM SENSOY	593
Chapter Fifty-two: Critical Media Literacy to Counter Muslim Stereotypes LEANNE JOHNNY AND SHAHEEN SHARIFF	603
Chapter Fifty-three: Toward Teaching Social Studies Through Critical Poststructural Constructs LEE ELLIOTT FLEISCHER	626
Chapter Fifty-four: In the Wake of Katrina: Teaching Immigrant Students Learning English About Race and Class in the United States DANIEL WALSH	644
Chapter Fifty-five: Advertising Pedagogy: Teaching and Learning Consumption MICHAEL HOECHSMANN	653
Chapter Fifty-six: Media Violence: Why Is It Used to Abuse Children? How to Oppose It and Win JACQUES BRODEUR	667
Chaper Fifty-seven: Critical Media Studies Meets Critical (Hyper-)Pedagogues KATHLEEN S. BERRY	687
About the Contributors	699