

Contents

1	Background and Motivation	1
1.1	Factors Influencing Sales and Sales Processes	2
1.1.1	Digitalization in General and Its Basic Concepts	2
1.1.2	Changing Working Conditions in Companies: And the Expectations of Customers	5
1.1.3	Changed Competence Profiles	5
1.2	The Strategy: Sales Enablement as a Management Task	8
1.2.1	Overall Model of Strategic Corporate Management	9
1.2.2	“Open Strategy”	10
1.2.3	Sales Strategy	11
1.2.4	Sales Key Performance Indicators and Analytics	12
1.2.5	Closing the Loop: Or How to Bring Sales Experience Back into Strategy	13
1.3	The Sales Enablement Process	14
1.4	The Innovation and Initiation Process in the Design Thinking Format	17
1.5	An Outlook; What the Future Holds	23
	References	25
2	Sales Enablement at a Glance	27
2.1	Definitions and Customer First	28
2.2	Sales Enablement Strategy	32
		ix

2.3	Processes, Training, and Sales Coaching	33
2.4	Content and Content Creation	34
2.5	Tools & Technology	36
2.6	Sales Enablement Charter	37
2.6.1	Overview of Historical Development	39
2.6.2	The Path from Problem Solver to Strategic Partner in the Company	41
2.6.3	Increasing Efficiency and Effectiveness Through Customer First	45
2.7	Practical Example	48
2.7.1	Possible Initial Situation	48
2.7.2	Problem Identification of the Initial Situation	48
2.7.3	Sales Enablement Solution Approaches	49
2.7.4	Outlook and Further Steps	50
2.7.5	Sales Enablement Charter for the Practical Example	50
	References	53
3	The Practical Start in Sales Enablement	55
3.1	The Sales Process Adapted to Customer Behavior	56
3.2	Sales Enablement Canvas	56
3.3	Evaluation of the Status Quo—Relevant Factors	59
3.4	Creating the Right Conditions	61
3.5	Continuing Education, Training, and Coaching	62
3.6	Technology and Tools	67
3.7	Content Structure and Offer	76
3.8	A Concrete Example	78
	References	83
4	Hybrid Sales Approach and Sales Enablement	85
	References	91
	Summary and Outlook	93